Under Legal Limit

Juggling Keeps Debt In Bounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the third time since mid-December, the Treasury Department has juggled its books to keep the national debt from exceeding the legal limit. The end to touch-and-go debt management appears in sight.

Congress planned to complete action today on the Treasury's request to raise the debt ceiling from $330 billion to $336 billion, giving the department some breathing space it hasn't enjoyed for three months.

On Jan. 18, the department came within $74.96 million of the ceiling, the closest ever. It used unusual techniques — Republicans have called them gimmicks—to stay within the law.

The debt would have shot through the $330 billion ceiling Tuesday had it not been for the latest juggle. As it was officials estimated the debt rose to $329.9 billion as of the end of business Tuesday.

Exact figures won't be available until Friday.

Since Dec. 1, the debt has fallen below $329 billion only once—on Jan. 30 when it was $328.87 billion.

The department normally likes about $3 billion headroom in handling the debt.

Tuesday's juggle involved about $800 million in Treasury securities held by the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Civil Service Retirement Commission.

The Treasury redeemed these issues with cash it had on hand, thus reducing the debt and its cash balance by about $800 million. The three agencies bought the same type securities on the open market where they had already been charged against the debt.

In a related transaction, the department removed about $700 million in Treasury securities from the Exchange Stabilization Fund through a simple bookkeeping entry. This also had the effect of reducing the debt.

International transactions are handled through this fund. The $700 million will be replaced later by a reverse bookkeeping entry.

State Fair Announces New Contest

A Steer Carcass Contest sponsored by the Missouri Department of Agriculture will be a new feature of the 1967 Missouri State Fair, Lowell Mohler, marketing division director, said today.

Entries will be received from any producer and may be of any breed or mixture of breeds, Mohler noted. He said the animals must weigh between 900-1,200 pounds by the date of the contest, tentatively scheduled for August 20.

In order to encourage participation in this event, the Missouri State Fair is offering a top prize of $100 in both the on-foot and carcass divisions. Mohler said it is possible for one steer to win a total of $200 by sweeping both divisions.

Following the judging of live animals, they will be slaughtered and the carcasses evaluated for meat yielding characteristics. Mohler said that in judging the carcasses, special emphasis will be placed on carcasses yielding a high percentage of retail cuts. Additional money will be paid for carcasses in this category.

"All in all, this new event will not only show the producer the type of product needed for today's market, but also, carcass information data will be furnished each producer which can be used in herd improvement programs," Mohler said.

Entries must be addressed to the Missouri State Fair, Steer Carcass Division, Sedalia, Mo. A $5 entry fee should accompany each application.

Dates for the 1967 Missouri State Fair are Aug. 19-27.

Crosswalk May Cause Lots Of Difficulty

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — About 50 Portland State College students painted a crosswalk across Broadway near their residence hall in downtown Portland Tuesday.

Ron Campbell, president of the dormitory, said he and others have asked city traffic engineers for the last three months to install lights and crosswalks.

"Someone at that school is going to be in a lot of trouble very soon," said Commissioner William Bowes, director of public works.

Sportsmen Flood State Trout Parks

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sportsmen swarmed into Missouri's trout parks today for the opening of the 1967 season.

The weather was bright though a little nippy when the whistles blew a few minutes before sunrise. At that time a total of 4,372 fishermen had bought daily trout tags.

That figure was more than for the entire day at last year's opening, a Tuesday. The total for the day last year was 4,190.

At the most popular spot, Bennet Spring near Lebanon, the temperature was an even freezing as 1,601 anglers lined the spring branch.

At the special management stream, Maramec Spring near St. James, the temperature was 18 with 941 tags sold.

It was 25 degrees at Montauk State Park near Salem and 875 anglers greeted the whistle by casting their lures.

Roaring River near Cassville in southwestern Missouri was warmest at 34 degrees. There were 955 fishermen.

Dozens of anglers caught fish on their first casts. The first limit of five fish recorded at Bennett Spring was that of W. J. Stanley of Lebanon and the biggest early fish was a four-pounder landed by Orville Stone of Stoutland on his 15th opening at Bennett.

Officials From India Visit County

Two Indian government Extension officials are visiting Pettis County and the University Extension Center in Sedalia this week.

S. S. Chawla from New Delhi and P. S. Thakur from Maharashtra State are spending this week studying the organization and working of the University Extension Center.

Chawla is with the government of India in New Delhi and is the Assistant Extension Officer in the Directorate of Extension. Chawla was vice captain of the champion basketball team of Kanpur University Colleges in 1948. He is a tall and robust Sikh (religion) gentleman from Punjab State. He is a keen observer and takes a lot of interest in the Agriculture development here. With his pleasing manners and unique personality he is leaving a good impression with the host farmers.

Thakur is the Agriculture Development Officer in the District of Sangli, India. He has worked in Extension for 23 years and was associated with the Technical Cooperative Mission of the United States in organizing the Extension Training Centers and Community Development Programs in India.

He plans and supervises Extension work in Sangli District and he is also working as a Project Officer for a special pi-

Record Budget OK'd

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Eisaku Sato's Cabinet has approved a record $13.7 - billion budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1. It will be presented to the Diet March 13.

The new budget, approved Tuesday, is about 14 per cent higher than the current $12-billion budget.

Chou Given Power To Stop Purge

Full Executive Authority Given By Chinese Boss

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star reported today that Mao Tse-tung has given Premier Chou En-lai full executive powers to stop Mao's cultural revolution purge and restore China's economy.

The Star said its report came from "its own sources inside China" but did not identify them further.

The Star's report coincided with an announcement by the Hong Kong government that Red China's exports to Hong Kong, its biggest market, dropped more than $8.2 million in January. Trade circles blamed the upheaval caused by Mao's purge and predicted Chinese exports would drop still further.

The Star, an English-language tabloid published and edited by Australians, also said Defense Minister Lin Piao had disagreed with Mao over several aspects of the purge.

Lin Piao is believed by many Western observers in Hong Kong to be the guiding power behind Mao, but the Star quoted its sources as saying Lin believed Mao had gone too far in five specific cases or areas:

—The purge punishment of army chief of staff Lo Jui-ching was, in Lin's opinion, too harsh. Earlier reports from China indicate that Lo was expelled from his job, publicly humiliated, and then arrested.

—The cultural revolution should not have been extended to the army.

—Hsiao Hua should not have been purged from his job as director of the political bureau of the army.

—There should have been no demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking and there should have been no violent demonstrations against Soviet women and children at the Peking airport.

—Mao's cultural revolution should not have been allowed to interfere with agriculture at a time when spring planting was about to begin.

The Star said its sources reported Lin went to Chou En-lai, laid before him his complaints against Mao, and also told him he wanted to be responsible only for the Chinese army and not for the civilian administration of China.

Then, according to the Star, Chou, Lin and "several other important leaders" put the matter before Mao.

After two days of consideration, the Star said, Mao gave Chou full executive power to:

—Halt the cultural revolution and stop power seizures.

—Get spring planting started

Long Range Gun Sites Hit By Mortar Barrage

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese troops have inflicted heavy casualties on two U.S. Marine companies and hammered at positions of long-range American guns south of the demilitarized zone with intensive mortar barrages, U.S. spokesmen announced today.

The official report estimated the Communists fired 1,000 mortar shells at Marines during a day-long battle Tuesday about 10 miles south of the buffer territory that separates North and South Vietnam.

Evidently seeking to interrupt the shelling of North Vietnam across the zone, the Communists lobbed 475 81mm mortar shells at the positions of some self-propelled 175mm guns that had been moved to within two miles of the zone.

A spokesman said there was no damage to the big guns, which can fire shells up to 20 miles, and that American casualties were light.

In the Zone C theater adjoining the Cambodian frontier, American planes and artillery killed more than 150 Viet Cong after the Communists badly mauled a company of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, the U.S. military command reported.

The plane was the 476th reported lost over the north in combat and the first loss reported in a week.

Navy A6 all-weather Intruder bombers struck before dawn today at the Chi Ne military installation, a major barracks and training area 35 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. Pilots reported all bombs in the target area but darnkess and poor weather prevented assessment of the damage.

During the raids Tuesday,

Unity Move To Support US War Role

Seek Support For Troops And Effort To Stop Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved today to unite the Senate behind a declaration of support for U.S. troops in Vietnam and for administration efforts to bring an end to the war there.

By fast parliamentary footwork, Mansfield got his proposal in for a vote ahead of various measures backed by the small band of senators who are outspoken against administration war policies.

The Senate plans to begin voting today on various riders to a $4.5 billion military authorization bill which has been under debate for a week.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., had expected to get an initial test on his proposal to put Congress on record in favor of requiring a declaration of war if bombing of North Vietnam is continued or troops commitments go above 500,000.

Clark stayed late in the Senate Tuesday night to make a speech in favor of his measure and to call it up formally so that it would be the first order of business today.

But Mansfield waited, too. When Clark had finished, he immediately offered his own proposal as a substitute for Clark's.

This meant the majority leader's language will be voted on first. If adopted, it will displace the Pennsylvanian's amendment. Chances for the Mansfield proposal appear excellent since it has appeal to all sides in the debate.

The majority leader's amendment would put Congress on record in favor of:

—A declaration of firm intent to provide "all necessary support" to U.S. fighting men in Vietnam.

—Strong support "of efforts being made by the President of the United States and other men of good will" to prevent expansion of the war and bring a satisfactory negotiated settlement which would preserve the independence of South Vietnam.

—Backing for any sort of international gathering which would bring an honorable conclusion to the war. This would include reconvening of the 1954 Geneva Conference which ended French control in Vietnam.

Name People Benefitting From Measure

Social Security Hike Aimed At Poverty-Stricken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security increases proposed by President Johnson would go mainly to five million aged persons now living in poverty, Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner told Congress today.

Gardner appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee to open the administration's argument for massive increases in benefits — and cost — of the Social Security program for the aged and related federal-state programs.

The committee is expected to spend at least two months on the proposal before sending it to the House, likely with substantial modifications.

Among other things, the administration proposes an increase of at least 15 per cent in retirement payments, with more for those now receiving the least.

Gardner said the first year's payment under this plan would remove 1.4 million aged people from poverty. A total of $1.5 billion in cash benefits would go the five million above 65 who are now living below the poverty level, Gardner said.

He said increases are needed also outside the Social Security insurance system, in those programs where states, with federal help, make payments to some eight million destitute or handicapped people.

"Public assistance payments are so low and so uneven that the government is, by its own standards and definitions, a major source of the poverty on which it has declared unconditional war," Gardner said, noting this was the assessment of an advisory council on public welfare that reported last year.

As a result, Gardner continued, the legislation also contains a requirement that the states be required to update their findings of welfare needs and, by July 1, 1969, "to meet need in full as they determine it in their own assistance standards."

Pick Target For Marches Of Protest

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights forces have made the gates of Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. their main target for marches in pressing demands that the killer of Wharlest Jackson be sought out and arrested.

About 2,000 Negroes marched to the plant gates Tuesday night and threw them open briefly, only to close them at the insistence of their leaders.

"If necessary, we'll go through those gates like a flood of water," shouted Charles Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He said that might happen soon.

Jackson, former treasurer of the Natchez branch of the NAACP, was killed Monday night when a bomb exploded in his pickup truck as he was driving home from work. A plant employe for 12 years, he had been promoted to a job previously held by white men.

Evers said marches would be staged in the downtown area today when shifts change.

Natchez officials have offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for the fatal bombing. Armstrong officials offered another $10,000.

City police and the FBI searched the truck wreckage for clues but Police Chief J.T. Robinson said that nothing concrete had been found.

Heads For Senate

'Shared Time' School Bill Passes In Missouri House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House today passed and sent to the Senate the controversial "shared time" bill. It would let students of private and parochial schools attend special courses in public schools if they are physically or mentally handicapped.

The state would help finance their special education.

There was no discussion today as the bill whipped through on a 94-63 vote. The argument had come earlier when the bill was first debated. At that time the hard-core opponents had eliminated one of the features they objected to the most.

In its original form the bill would have included those considered "educationally deprived." Opponents said there was no definite interpretation of the category and it would be impossible to estimate how many youngsters might be included under that phase.

The whole argument started several years ago when the St. Louis special school district sent teachers into the parochial and private schools for instruction of the special students. The Supreme Court of Missouri ruled it could not be done.

The House also reconsidered and passed a bill that would allow sale of liquor on Sunday if the Sabbath is also New Year's Eve.

The Senate passed a bill to let Missouri join a multistate tax compact.

The vote sending the bill to the House was 27-5.

Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, said that by providing uniform methods of taxation — "something that should have been done 30 years ago"—the states could ward off the threat of federal invasion in the fields of sales, use and income taxes.

He said that as of Monday 21 state legislatures had introduced similar bills.

He said the Willis bill pending in Congress, if passed, could cost Missouri $50 million a biennium in revenue.

One of the opponents, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, said he was against the compact bill because "no one can tell us what it will mean to the state's revenue."

Also passed and sent to the House was a bill to revise the state's banking laws for the first time in 50 years.

Spradling said it would put state banks on an equal footing with national banks and would strengthen the State Finance Division.

The Senate met only briefly before adjourning to attend the funeral in Kirkwood today of

Net Income For County Tabulated

Pettis Countians reported a net taxable income of $17,539,219 during 1965 on their individual tax returns, the Missouri Department of Revenue reported, and corporation taxes paid in the county tallied $41,465.12.

Tax due in the county totalled $338,862.63 and the department said that $49,054.96 was paid in refunds, adding that the number of refunds totalled 4,047 in 1965.

General intangible tax in Pettis County for calendar year 1966 came to $39,724.30, and the amount collected came to $79,990.26. The Department of Revenue made a net tax distribution of $78,342.25 in the intangible tax schedule for the same period.

The adjusted gross income reported by Pettis County residents during 1965 was totalled at $48,340,284. There were 3,439 returns claiming standard deductions and 5,362 using itemized deductions.

Intersection Control

FINALLY INSTALLED—The intersection of North Highway 65 and North Grand Ave., received it's traffic control light Tuesday. The installation was completed shortly afternoon and was the result of a hearing before the Highway Commission last December. The Highway Engineer at that time recommended no control at the intersection. The blinker light, red facing Grand and amber facing the highway, will be maintained for about $10 a month by the city of Sedalia. The intersection has been the scene of numerous accidents, one in which a person died. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The man I am about to marry is 20 years old. I am 19. The problem is his mother.

Louie sets the alarm clock for 6:45 a.m., which would give him plenty of time to get ready, pick me up at 7:45, take me to my job and get to his place of employment by 8:45.

About three mornings a week his dear mother thinks he doesn't gte enough rest, so she tiptoes into his bedroom and turns off his alarm clock. Of course he over sleeps, which causes him to be late for work. Naturally, I am late also.

Louie has begged his mother to stay out of his room and keep her hands off his alarm but she continues to do it anyway.

Please tell me what to do. This problem has caused some very bitter arguments between us.—BURNED UP.

Dear Burned: Tell Louie to put the clock under the mattress if he doesn't want Mom to turn off the alarm.

Dear Ann Landers: I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your advice to the wife whose husband takes her to cocktail parties and then proceeds to ignore her. You told her to go with him and make conversation on her own, or else stay home and stop complaining. There was even a hint of praise for the louse for taking his wife along.

The notion that men must go to cocktail parties for business reasons is as phony an excuse as "Sitting up with a sick friend." Cocktail parties are a substitute for getting stoned in some crummy bar. Only the furniture is different.

So why don't you stick up for us women for a change? You are so prejudiced in favor of men that I'm beginning to wonder if maybe you aren't a man yourself. — THUMBS DOWN ON LANDERS.

Dear Thumbs: A husband who abandons his wife at cocktail parties is not going to change because I tell him to. Especially when HE didn't ask for my advice, it was his wife who wrote. I repeat—make it on your own or stay home.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a widow whose husband died almost three years ago. I have a friend who lost his wife two years ago. We have known each other for a long time and I have seen Mr. Solo around town a lot lately—also unaccompanied.

A few weeks ago I wrote Mr. Solo a note suggesting that since he is without a wife and I am without a husband we ought to get together — perhaps I could cheer him up. He did not respond to my note and I feel that maybe I made a fool of myself.

What should I say when we next meet? It is just a matter of time before we run into one another again. — DURHAM WIDOW.

Dear Durham: Don't say anything. You've said too much already. If you give a small dinner party and wish to include Mr. Solo ,along with others, fine —but a widow who offers to "cheer up" an unmarried man might be classed as overly aggressive. Nothing clobbers Cupid quite as dead as a pushy female.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Only One Latin Lover Still Here

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Once there were three Latin lovers of the silent screen. Now only one remains: Ramon Novarro.

The greatest of them all was Rudolph Valentino, the Italian who swept damsels off their high-button shoes in such films as "Blood and Sand," "The Eagle," "The Sheik" and "Son of the Sheik." His death at 31 in 1926 was followed by one of the most riotous funerals in American history.

Another member of the triumvirate was Madrid-born Antonio Moreno, who died Feb. 15 at the age of 80. He provided romantic support for many of the screen's high-powered actresses: Gloria Swanson, Dorothy Gish, etc. He was relegated to supporting roles with the advent of sound.

The remaining Latin is Novarro, born Ramon Samaniegoes in Durango, Mexico, 68 years ago. The star of the silent "Ben Hur," "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Scaramouche," etc., his stardom lasted well into the sound era.

Until recently Novarro continued his career as a character actor in movies and television.

The death of Moreno prompted me to seek out Novarro at his San Fernando Valley home.

"I met Valentino only once," he recalled. "It was through Natasha Rambova (his actress wife) when I was ushering at the Philharmonic Auditorium here — I was also playing extra in films at the time. Natasha introduced me to Valentino, who was a big star then.

"Antonio I knew, but not too well. We used to meet every year at a dinner party given on Dec. 15 by some friends of ours. We always had a good time together, but we were never close friends."

The varying styles of the three Latins?

"I'd say Valentino was more of the sexy type," Novarro analyzed. "Antonio was always very much the gentleman. As for myself, my style was romantic comedy."

Novarro, gray-haired but still handsome, left no doubt that he favored his own era in films over the present one.

"I was just talking about that the other night with a friend," he remarked. "We were discussing the old days in Hollywood, and I said that it is too bad there is no glamor left in movies any more. They're not trying in the studios any more; everything is in too much of a hurry."

Novarro said he watches television, but seldom attends the movies. "Why waste my time?" he reasons.

Garden Club Project Is Beautification

Members of the California Twin City Garden Club met on Feb. 20 for their regular monthly meeting. Guests for the meeting were Mayor Ralph Sullens and representatives of California's civic clubs. They were: Jerry McCarty, Lions; Rev. Gene Anglin, Jaycees; John Bowlin, Kiwanis; Harry Minturn, Chamber of Commerce; Richard Schroeder, Boy Scouts; Mrs. Clark Howard, 4-H Council; and Perry Wilson.

The program was a panel discussion on community beautification led by Miss Catherine Riner, program chairman, and Mrs. Aubra Van Sandt, civic improvement chairman. Mayor Sullins and other guests pledged the cooperation of their organizations with the garden club on projects for beautification of the city of California. A community betterment plan was presented by Miss Riner.

Mrs. Walter Eitzen presented th club a $50 check from the Sears Beautification Foundation for further landscaping of the R-1 Schoolgrounds. This check makes a total of $375 the club has received in Sears grants for this project.

It was reported that 12 more blue bird houses have been built to begin a Blue Bird Trail on Highway 87 south.

Tractor Run On Capitol Considered

TOPEKA (AP)—Would Kansas farmers mount their tractors for a march on Washington?

The president of the Kansas Farmers Union said he is considering such a demonstration if the government doesn't provide more help for wheat growers.

William D. Daniels, KFU president, said farmers are reaching the boiling point, but no solid plans have been made for a tractor march on Washington. However, there is strong talk of plowing under much of the 1967 crop.

Unrest has been growing he said, since Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman announced last year that 1967 wheat allotments would be increased.

Daniels said his organization warned before seeding of the winter wheat crop last fall that farmers shouldn't plant the entire acreage increase unless a better price was assured.

This has not been done, Daniels said.

Wheat farmers, he said, are guaranteed 10o per cent of parity (about $2.50 a bushel) only on 35 per cent of their normal alloted production. The remainder, he said, moves into foreign trade channels and is supported at $1.25 or the cash market price, whichever the farmer decides to take.

"It costs about $1.50 a bushel to produce wheat," Daniels said, "and farmers need better prices. The wheat going into foreign trade isn't bringing the farmer enough money—and that is what we want changed."

The Farmers Union says if a special export certificate allowing higher payments isn't approved by May 1 members will be urged to plow up their extra acres.

"If we have a good enough demonstration, I think we have a good chance to get an export certificate," Daniels said.

"Farmers are really up in the air over this. And from what I've seen with other demonstrators it seems like the wheel that squeaks loudest gets the grease."

Other farm leaders say the weather will dictate what happens to this year's wheat crop, which normally is planted in August and September and harvested in June and July.

None see a new breed of wheatnik emerging in Kansas.

Ray Frisbie, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau, said his organization has taken no official stand on the proposed plow-up.

"But it does point up what we've said all the time, that farmers are showing extreme dissatisfaction with the federal programs. This, of course, is on top of the drought situation, which is primarily the cause of bringing all this up. I doubt personally whether any good wheat will be plowed under."

G. W. Egbert of Manhattan, chairman of the federal government's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said:

"I don't think much will be plowed under if we could get good, general rains right now."

Wheat is suffering from lack of moisture over much of Kansas. Destructive winds have hurt in some areas, particularly in south-central and southwest Kansas.

"We're in a precarious position," said Les McDonald, Haskell County elevator operator and farmer. "It has very poor growth and needs rain. Kansas may plow up 1 to 1½ million acres of wheat this year, but it'll be because of the drought."

Hal Hellebust of Topeka, executive secretary of the Kansas Co-op Council, said more than 200 elevator officials attended a meeting in Manhattan Tuesday and the plow-up controversy evoked no discussion.

"The weatherman has the most to do with it," he said.

G. C. Fowler of Hutchinson, who is administrator for the Kansas Wheat Commission, said he was apprehensive about a plow-up campaign.

"It would be the worst possible thing farmers could do for their image," he said. "At a time when there's a food shortage in the world this could hurt them."

Crane Operator Dies In Freak Accident

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A construction crane operator was crushed to death Tuesday when the 70-foot steel crane boom he was dismantling collapsed on him in suburban Overland Park, Kan.

The victim, Norman L. Burgess, 40, had lowered the tip of the boom two feet off the ground. He knocked a pin loose from a connection and the boom buckled pinning him underneath.

Burgess, of Overland Park, was employed by the J. A. Tobin Construction Co. The accident occurred on a job at 108th Street and Nall Avenue.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank the citizens of Sedalia who have so forcefully expressed their opinion in support of the maintenance of the Sedalia Police Merit System. To these people and to the many others who are continuing to support the merit system, the Sedalia Police Officers Association, at its last meeting went on record in an expression of whole-hearted thanks for this public support.

GUEST SPEAKER—Guest speaker at the Saturday noon banquet during the Jaycee Board meeting in Sedalia Friday through Sunday was 'Red' Gill, from Bylltheville, Ark. Gill talked on the importance of living up to the Jaycee Creed and the value of friendship.

"I am probably the poorest man in this crowd, but I feel I am the richest, because I have all of you people as my friends," he explained. Listening to Gill is Carl Baldwin, State Jaycee President.

Painful View of Life In Slum Area

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS news division took its cameras into a crumbling old tenement in a segregated slum on Chicago's South Side, and then let the pictures and the tenants tell what life is like under such circumstances.

From beginning to end it was painful. Nine families, some with 9 and 10 children, were crowded into a few rooms. Only two families had fathers around. Five of them were existing on welfare. The plaster on the walls was crumbling. Rotting garbage littered the back yard.

Few of the tenants had jobs. Most did not have enough to feed or cloth the children decently. Jobs for the unskilled were hard, if not impossible, to find. Worst of all was the resignation shown by these people, and the lifeless, almost impersonal way many of them told of giving up hope that things would be better.

Running through the Tuesday night hour, as the program moved from hot summer to cold winter, was a report on the progress of wreckers tearing down all buildings in the slum to make way for a housing project. As far as those unfortunates were concerned that just meant another hunt to find another crumbling tenement into which to move.

American television viewers may have seen the sights and fashions of London's swinging Carnaby Street more often this season than any other street in the world.

Tuesday night ABC gave us the guided tour in a half-hour special called "The Miniskirt Rebellion." The title suggested the possibility of some witty wise reflections on the vogue. Instead, it was a rather flat, humorless series of cautious interviews with long-haired designers and shop owners who fervently hope the fad will not disappear. The main part of the program was film of assorted young women with stringy hair, heavy eye makeup and skirts seven or more inches above knobby knees.

ABC has innounced that one of the new shows on its fall schedule will be a half-hour police-action series called "N.Y.P.D.," a sort of East Coast version of "Dragnet."

David Susskind, who will produce the series in New York — the only dramatic series being made here, by the way — reluctantly admitted that he will not have access to the city's closed police files, but would have some help — technical advice and equipment when necessary — from members of the police department.

Individual Must Seek His Own Answer

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The answer to overpopulation must be sought by the individual, not the law, a student convocation at Kansas State University was told Tuesday.

Byron R. White, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, stressed the need for individual decision and action toward solving mankind's dilemmas.

The solution of overpopulation "is very much in private hands," he said. "Just one more child in every family will mean 70 million more people by the end of the century."

Old Western Figure Dies At Age 82

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—One of the last stagecoach drivers of the old west, William M. Martin, died Tuesday. He was 82.

Martin, as a boy of 17, drove a daily stage from Guthrie to Kingsfisher, Okla., a distance of 44 miles, and back the next day, using a four-horse hitch in dry weather, and two extra horses when it was muddy.

He recalled that the trip required 9½ hours in dry weather, and longer in wet. As protection against road agents, Martin said he wore a .45-caliber pistol strapped to his hip on ordinary runs, and had a shotgun guard accompany him whenever he hauled a money box. He was never held up.

After 18 months as a coach driver, Martin was a rider and wild west show performer for the 101 Ranch of Bliss, Okla., until he was trampled by a horse and had to quit the sawdust after 4½ years.

Martin was born May 30, 1882, in Brown County, Kan., near Hiawatha, and wandered down to Oklahoma in his teens. He had lived in Atchison since 1937, retiring after 40 years as an independent building contractor and bricklayer.

He never lost his love for the past, and relived it by whittling miniature wooden mementos of stagecoaches, covered wagons, sod plows and oxen, sawmills, log wagons and tools, and replicas of a wild west show and a carnival, with rides.

Martin leaves his widow, Anna. They had no children.

Mayor Leads His Men In Primary Votes

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Mayor Ilus W. Davis and most of his Citizens Association - endorsed incumbent councilmen led their opponents in city primary balloting Tuesday in a small turnout of voters.

Unofficial returns gave Davis 20,883 votes to 10,805 for Rex Bone, an independent. There are 202,725 registered voters in Kansas City.

The Citizens-endorsed candidates led in 11 of 13 council races.

Sal A. Capra and Mrs. Harry Hagan, both incumbent council members, defeated Citizens-backed opponents. Unofficial returns gave Capra 2,785 votes to 1,360 for J. H. Haas in the Second District; and Mrs. Hagan 4,182 to 1,634 for Laurence L. Lowe in the Fifth District.

The primary balloting eliminated candidates in the four races where there were more than two candidates. Those races did not include the second or fifth districts.

Home Town In US Was Top Wish

NEW YORK (AP) — "You would never guess what I have missed most in life," wrote Henry Robinson Luce several years ago. "It is the fact that I have never had, and cannot have, an American home town."

The cofounder of Time Inc., who was born in China while his Presbyterian missionary father was serving in Tengchow, added, "I'd give anything if I could say my home town was Oskaloosa, Iowa."

The choice was revealing. The conservative, Protestant Republican values often associated with life in small midwestern towns were quite in accord with the personal creed of the man who revolutionized American Magazine journalism.

When he died Tuesday in Phoenix, Ariz., at 68, Time Inc. had grown from a shoestring investment of $86,000 to a publishing empire which reported an all-time high net profit of $37.3 million in 1966.

President Johnson called Luce "a pioneer of American journalism" who helped millions of readers "to understand the forces that shape the society in which they live."

Luce, at his death was editorial chairman of Time, Life, Fortune and Sports Illustrated which have a combined worldwide circulation of nearly 14 million.

He was also an honorary citizen of Oskaloosa. The Iowa town took him up on his wish and gave him the title last year.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Clare Booth Brokaw Luce, the writer who is a former member of Congress and Ambassador to Italy, and two sons by the first marriage. They are Henry Luce III, a vice president of Time Inc and its London bureau chief, and Peter Paul Luce of New York.

A funeral service has been tentatively set for Friday in New York. Burial will be private.

More Half Dollars Are Circulating Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half dollars are beginning to circulate again but the Treasury Department said today it still is too early to declare an end to the shortage.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Robert A. Wallace said he expects 50-cent pieces to be in relatively tight supply for the rest of the year.

But "if we keep up current produciton," he said, "the shortage should end gradually."

Current production is at a record 24 million 50-cent pieces each month.

The shortage of halves is related not only to the basic coin shortage which plagued the country in recent years but also to the image of the late President John F. Kennedy which appears on them.

Wallace said once people realize the Kennedy halves will be the coin of the realm for at least 25 years the coins will begin circulating more freely.

Easter Seal Fund Drive Dance Is Set

Mrs. Gaylan Cope and Mrs. John Sweezy, co-chairmen of the Pettis County Easter Seal Drive, announced a community dance will be held March 10 from 9 to 12 p.m. at Convention Hall in Sedalia, proceeds to go to the Easter Seal Drive.

Two bands will provide varied styles of dance music for the evening and refreshments will be available.

Tickets for this dance may be obtained from any Sedalia Jaycee Wife, Mattingly's Downtown Store, Reed's Jewelry, KDRO Radio and Colie's Drive-In.

Few Autos Travel Roads In Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's not a single gas station on the 100-mile road from Moscow to Kalinin and only one garage in the 428 miles to Minsk, says the CIA.

Even under the Kremlin's much-touted plan to boost car output, the Central Intelligence Agency says the Soviets by 1975 will have no more autos on the road than the United States did in 1917.

The CIA report came to light in a study issued today by the House International Trade subcommittee on the Fiat-Soviet auto plant and Communist economic reforms.

The Soviets are buying an $800-million Fiat manufacturing plant to increase their car production. The Italian firm wants to buy $50 million worth of U.S. machine tools for the deal. The House group under Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, gave guarded endorsement Tuesday for such sales.

"The U.S.S.R. has only a toehold in the automative age," CIA said "Essentially, the new Soviet program is designed to produce automobiles for the bureaucratic and managerial elite — not for the average citizen."

The American espionage agency counted Soviet auto production at 185,200 in 1964, compared with 7.7 million in the United States. Moscow wants to hike its car output to 800,000 a year by 1970. CIA predicted it might actually rise to 460,000 by then, what with "the usual slippage in Soviet construction plans."

As for the number of passenger cars on the road, CIA figured the Soviet Union had 919,000 by 1964, or one for every 250 persons, compared with 71 million autos or more than one for every three persons in the United States.

The Communists still favor travel by trucks and buses for their proletariat, but the CIA noted Kremlin complaints that leaders "have been compelled to use trucks unlawfully for their official rides."

Circuit Court

A petition for divorce was filed in Circuit Court Tuesday by Delores Mosier against R. V. Mosier. Attorney for the plaintiff is William F. Brown.

A petition for divorce was filed in Circuit Court Tuesday by Arthur F. Fisher against Beverly Sharon Fisher. O. E. Brown is the attorney for the plaintiff.

A petition for an accounting and for removal of trustees of a perpetual care fund and appointment of successors of Memorial Park Cemetery was heard in Circuit Court Friday. Donald R. Anderson filed his resignation as trustee of the care fund, and the court accepted Adolph Glenn, Paul S. Reed and William F. Brown as trustees to succeed Anderson.

The petition for an accounting was dismissed with prejudice, meaning it cannot be refiled, according to Brown. An earlier report in The Sedalia Democrat-Capital left some doubt about the disposition of the case, which, according to Brown, is now closed.

Plaintiffs were Henry C. Salveter, Louis R. Hughes Jr., Clinton J. Muller, representatives of owners of burial lots at Sedalia Memorial Park Cemetery, and defendants listed were Missouri Cities Memorial Park Corp., Francis J. Fisher and Donald R. Anderson.

William E. Jones, 300 East Cooper, pleaded guilty to charges of second degree burglary and stealing and was sentenced to serve two years on each count, the sentences to run concurrently, in the custody of the State Department of Corrections.

Jones, during the Circuit Court proceedings, waived his right to counsel and a trial by jury. The sentence was passed on the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler.

The case arose from a break-in at Central Missouri Processors, Inc., Feb. 27. Police reported Wednesday they had recovered 13 wrenches taken in that incident.

Loydean Rhinehart filed a petition for divorce from Russell Rhinehart in Circuit Court Wednesday. William F. Brown is attorney for the plaintiff.

Magistrate Court

Ernest Greer and Harold Cobb, Kansas City men charged in a state complaint with second degree burglary and stealing, had their preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Wednesday morning. They were bound over to the April term of Circuit Court and bond was set at $3,000 each.

The case involved a breaking and entering case at Bing's Supermarket, South Limit, early Monday.

Police Reports

Police received a report at 10:18 p.m. Monday from Leo Stater, St. Louis, that a gray suitcase and a plastic bag with two colored shirts in it, were taken from his car while it was parked at 208 South Lamine. The loss was set at $100.

Mrs. Henrietta Reinert, 701 East Seventh, reported to police Tuesday the loss of her billfold somewhere between Bothwell Hospital and the Safeway Store. It contained her driver's license, cash and important papers.

Children were reported playing in a vacant house at 624 West Seventh about 6:20 p.m. Tuesday. They were gone when officers arrived.

Senate May Not Block Treaty Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl Mundt, a leading foe of the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty, conceded today chances of its being blocked by the Senate are slim.

"But I wouldn't say it's hopeless," Mundt added in the wake of these developments Tuesday which pointed toward ratification of the treaty when it comes up for consideration in about two weeks:

—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the pact 15 to 4.

—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced he had changed his mind and would vote for the treaty.

—Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, reversed an earlier position and voted for approval in the committee.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he thinks the treaty will easily get the two-thirds backing required for Senate approval.

Morton forecast 75 to 80 votes in favor of the pact.

"I think he's unduly optimistic," Mundt said. "I don't think you can get an accurate poll this early."

The South Dakota Republican contends the consular treaty should be rejected because the Soviet Union is supplying weapons to North Vietnam.

Navy pilots said they damaged seven cargo barges 31 miles southeast of Hanoi and eight miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.

Operation Junction City suddenly surged into bloody action about noon Tuesday when a Viet Cong battalion of about 500 men ambushed a U.S. 1st Infantry Division company 18 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City.

Reports from the battle area said the Viet Cong raked the company with machine-gun and small-arms fire.

The Americans countered with air strikes and artillery barrages and called up ground reinforcements. A U.S. spokesman reported more than 150 enemy bodies were found and said the count was expected to rise.

In another sector of the Junction City Operation, a company of U.S. troops was tear gassed by retreating Viet Cong after a short firefight. The American unit donned gasmasks and a spokesman said they suffered no casualties as the Viet Cong pulled out.

U.S. troops reported killing 30 more Viet Cong in other skirmishes in the operation, swelling the total enemy dead to date to at least 271.

Old age assistance recipients could live with relatives and still receive welfare aid under a bill approved by a House committee Tuesday.

But only the amount spent by the relative for the care of the old person could be considered in determining his eligibility.

Also approved was a bill to let unemployed fathers live at home and not impair the eligibility of their families for aid to dependent children. The fathers would have to take any job available if they were not disabled and mothers and fathers would have to be married.

Tuesday night a Senate committee heard Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter report that about 2,000 persons were denied old age assistance last year because their homes were worth more than $6,000 — the present eligibility limit.

The committee was considering a bill to raise the limit to $7,500. No immediate action was taken.

Another Senate committee approved a bill clearing the way for construction of big resort motels in state parks.

The State Park Board could issue revenue bonds to build them or contract with private industry under 25-year leases. Construction of such a resort-convention facility at Table Rock State Park has been stymied by the present law.

A bill to set up a separate school district at Ft. Leonard Wood ran into trouble when the Army told the commander, Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Lipscomb, to suspend any further activities in behalf of the bill.

"All of my witnesses have been silenced," said Rep. R. J. King, R-Clayton, sponsor of the bill.

Meanwhile the House Judiciary Committee considered a bill to include beauty and barber shops under the present public accommodations law barring racial or religious discrimination in public places.

It was supported by the State Commission on Human Rights and the League of Women Voters.

Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton urged the Senate Judiciary Committee to replace county prosecuting attorneys with 30 circuit attorneys who would operate on a full-time basis and have an assistant in each county.

Vermaas Speaks To Optimists

Chester Vermaas, conservation agent, speaker at Optimist Noon Club Tuesday at State Fair Restaurant, told of three types of fish that are being introduced into Missouri streams.

One is the muskellunge which have been placed in the Pomme de Terre area until the fish are large enough to see what they will be like. These fish in a hatchery were such terrific eaters, first being fed a tiny kind of fish and later minnows, that they had to put them in Pomme de Terre because they couldn't keep them in food, he said.

Another kind of fish will be the Northern Pike which they plan to put in Thomas Hill Lake to find out how they behave.

The third species is the Striped Bass, which come from along the coast but do well in inland waters. These fish, Vermaas said, live for years and sometimes weigh as much as 100 pounds. These will be in hatcheries for a year and then will be put in the Lake of the Ozarks.

All of the fish are northern species and it is believed will do well in Missouri waters. Research like this, Vermaas said, is where a lot of the money from fees go.

Vermaas, who was introduced by Pete Stohr, program chairman, also showed an interesting film on fish, "Life in the Headwater Stream."

The meeting was presided over by R. L. Settles, president, and the club went on record as endorsing the merit system and backing Chief of Police William Miller. It is this club that is sponsoring, with Chief Miller, the Crime Alert program which is proving very valuable to the police in capturing criminals.

Ray Simons, a city councilman, and a member of the Optimist Club, spoke briefly, stating that he was proud to have been appointed chairman of the Crime Alert program. He went on to say that he thought Sedalia was on its way up and he felt the Crime Alert program was a factor that would help in the progress.

Vermaas said at the opening of his talk that the Crime Alert program was a fine thing, adding this has been a nation of apathy too long about crime.

The invocation was given by Rev. Charles Hendrickson.

Settles introduced as his guest Bill Talbot.

Urge Participation In Clothing Drive

A city-wide drive for the Church World Service clothing appeal is underway in Sedalia.

This project, under the direction of Mrs. Guy Chapman, is sponsored by the Sedalia Council of United Church Women. All churches in Sedalia and Pettis County have been urged to begin collecting and boxing good, clean used clothing in order to meet the acute need in some 30 overseas areas.

Light summer clothing in all sizes is particularly needed. Shoes, blankets, yard goods and soap, in the original wrapper, are also accepted.

Mrs. Chapman stated that cash donations would be most welcome to help meet the cost to process the clothing, prepare it for shipment and to pay for pier and wharfage charges.

Boxed contributions will be accepted at Epworth Methodist Church, Broadway and Engineer on Friday, March 17 and Monday, March 20 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

For further information regarding this project, Mrs. Chapman may be contacted at TA 6-6943.

Name Dr. Maddox Nursery Board Head

Dr. A. R. Maddox was re-elected president of the Minneola Day Nursery Board at the February meeting held recently.

Other officers, all re-elected, are Professor Harry Browder, Vice-President, J. Price Alexander, Secretary, and William Gatewood, Treasurer.

Mrs. Gertrude Boggess, Nursery Supervisor, reported a continued high enrollment of 20 children, with several on the waiting list. A report was read by the President from the State Nutritionist, who offered several recommendations, which were appreciated and well received by the Board members.

A committee on Finance was appointed by Dr. Maddox, namely Mr. William Gatewood, Price Alexander, and Harry Browder. There are several things badly needed at the Nursery but finances are very low.

The Board meets every second Tuesday at the Nursery, located at 732 West Cooper Street.

Is 'No' too Difficult to Say?

How are you going to keep up with them?

The transient salespeople who use high pressure and peculiar sales technique in Central Missouri. They break out like cases of measles in the most unexpected places.

A senior citizen complains of being charged a fabulous price for having tree limbs cut down; foreign termite "experts" present unreasonable bills; the solicitation by telephone technique annoys many persons.

Now Sheriff Fairfax and Prosecuting Attorney Keeler issue a joint appeal for area residents to be wary of telephone solicitors whose pitch is to sell a "specialized" insurance policy to widows.

Then there are the young girls and young men with their door-to-door magazine sales promotion who are working their way through college, or the ones planning how to go to divinity school to learn how to be preachers. Talk about gimmicks and high pressure. They almost make anyone break down, sob and reach for his pocketbook.

Not long ago a magazine selling crew visited Sedalia. Among the devices used to get their foot in the door for an interview and sales approach was to feign personal acquaintanceship.

The door bell rings. The woman of the house answers. The solicitor greets her: "Oh, how are you Mrs. Smythe? (She got the name out of a telephone book) It's been a long time since I met you last. May I come in?"

Once inside the house, there finally comes a casual admission of mistaken identity—but the pitch to sell magazines or some other product begins with real steam up.

Utterly amazing is the manner in which these people are received into area homes, and how their prospects are persuaded to turn loose of cash for bargains that really are not bargains at all.

Misrepresentation by these transients has become so commonplace and complaints so numerous that the federal government is considering cracking down on the persons who indulge in this objectionable activity.

But really this ought not to be necessary. People who are approached by phony cut rate salesmen, only to be skinned, could stop this by not being so gullible.

Senior citizens, and younger ones also, could learn to say no more frequently, or to shut the door quietly in the face of saleswomen or salesmen who become impudent when the lady-of-the-house won't let them in. It happens in Sedalia.

They Never Grew Up

One of the most distressing, and increasingly frequent, maladies physicians have to diagnose is the "battered child syndrome." What kind of person—what kind of parent—could beat a child, sometimes to death?

A recent study made at Forbes Air Force Base, Kan., attempted to answer this question. Involved were 12 service couples whose children exhibited the now classic maltreatment syndrome.

It was found that all of the offending couples displayed immature personalities and the inability to accept the role of responsible parents. They were egocentric, demanding people who reacted violently if their wishes were thwarted. Mothers were guilty almost as often as fathers.

In almost every case, some trival behavior of the child's triggered the violence. But behind the outbursts lay economic and marital problems that haunted the couples, personal frustrations they took out on their children.

What kind of person beats a child? Another child, walking around in the body of an adult.

The Meaning of Lent

Muhammad Ali and Lent

A lot of people smirked when heavyweight champion Cassius Clay changed his name to Muhammad Ali. Not many laughed, however, when he applied for draft deferment as a minister of the Black Muslim religion.

Ringside theologians later admitted that his punch was as big as his mouth but no one on the sports page gave a second thought to his beliefs. Same with the religion page.

Perhaps the Christian should ask at this point if the ecumenical discussion club is large enough to have guests who radically differ from the regular membership.

It really is no longer a big deal for Catholics and Protestants to share services and mutual projects. What would be refreshing, during the Lenten season, would be a personal effort on your part to attend, listen to, consider the beliefs and convictions of those not your own.

Frankly, I believe that considerable spiritual strength would be gained if Presbyterians would look in on a Christian Science Reading Room, if Roman Catholics attended a Quaker meeting, or if Mormons went to an Episcopal evensong.

Jesus Christ spoke of an abundant life. This promise is fulfilled in many ways. Bobby Richardson has his approach, Cardinal Cushing another. and Muhammad Ali, that of the Black Muslims. When honest discussion and inquiry abound, Lent is honored through spiritual renewal.

Supreme Court Loses Clearest Writer

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will lose its clearest and best-organized writer when Justice Tom C. Clark retires, sometime before the end of June.

Yet, he has had small recognition for the clarity of the opinions he wrote, perhaps because he was less colorful or controversial than some of the other eight justices.

Now 67 and on the bench since 1949, Clark announced Tuesday his decision to step down after President Johnson named his son, Ramsey Clark, 39, attorney general. The younger Clark had been acting attorney general.

Justice Clark's reason for leaving: to avoid any conflict of interest since the Justice Department, under his son, will be handling Supreme Court cases.

The present court, for courage and the tremendous impact of its decisions in the past 12 years, is probably the greatest in American history. But most of the justices still write opinions in the fashion of 75 or 100 years ago.

In short, those opinions lack precision, self-discipline, good organization and therefore the kind of easy clarity the court could but doesn't achieve. As a result, most of the opinions are a complex scramble.

Clark's opinions, when he was writing for the majority or dissenting, got to the point in a hurry, stating the case, background, opinion, and the reason for it.

The court has been told privately and publicly that it could and should do better writing but it won't change. Thus, from a literary view, it justly could be called reactionary.

Clark was the court's real middle-man. He could never be flatly identified as liberal or conservative. He moved from one side to the other, depending on the case, although it seems fair to say he was frequently very conservative.

He was part of the court which in 1954 outlawed public school segregation. But in 1957, in two very important cases involving communism, he was the lone dissenter when the court voted twice 6 to 1.

In one, the court overthrew the contempt conviction of a man who fully answered questions by the House Committee on Un-American activities about himself but refused to answer about Communists he might have known.

The court ruled Congress has no right to try to expose for exposure's sake, thus narrowing the scope of committee investigations.

In the other the court made a sharp distinction between trying to overthrow the government by force and simply talking about trying to do so.

The court ruled just talking about it wasn't outlawed.

Yet, in 1963 Clark wrote the majority opinion banning the compulsory reading of prayers in public schools.

But in 1964 he was one of the three justices against the majority opinion ordering reapportionment of a state legislature so that citizens of a state got more equal representation.

He wrote the majority opinion in 1965, saying the Civil Rights Act of 1964 wiped out pending state prosecution of sit-in demonstrators. And that same year he wrote the 5-4 decision which, in effect, barred televised trials.

In 1966 he dissented from the decision making it far tougher than ever for police in questioning suspects but he was with the majority in upholding important parts of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

In 1966 he was part of the majority which banned poll taxes as a prerequisite in state voting.

Printing Office Expands Into Retail Book Fields

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Government Printing Office, which last year sold 66.6 million publications at an average price of 22 cents, is gradually expanding into the retail bookstore business.

"We might get some flak from the (commercial) bookstores," said James Harrison, whose title is Public Printer "but we're really not competitive with them."

Plans of the 72-year-old agency to make its publications available at its own stores in cities other than Washington is a sharp change in direction. Not long ago it had just one store, in its own building in Washington.

The change comes in response to a directive from President Johnson to heads of agencies asking them to explore ways in which they could improve their services to the public.

Partly as a result, the Printing Office now has four stores and another planned in Washington, another in operation in Chicago, and plans for a big, ground level store in Kansas City. All will be in federal buildings.

Beyond these three cities, the agency is playing it by ear. But federal buildings abound, and most of the new ones have large open spaces in their lobbies, the kind of location suitable for book display.

"As long as we've got federal buildings we should make use of them," said Harrison.

"If we find the demand is there and Congress clamors we would also consider taking space in a commercial building. We feel this information belongs to the public and should be made available."

There have been few solid reasons for not going into the bookstore business in a large way before. It simply wasn't done, perhaps for fear of criticism from commercial booksellers.

Instead, for many years the Printing Office concentrated its retail activities in a store on the ground floor of its main Washington building and in a mail order business.

This mail order business is huge. The Printing Office claims one million subscribers for its selected list of important government publications, issued 30 times a year. Thousands more subscribe to lists in specific categories.

Nevertheless, all this material also had been available at wholesale to commercial booksellers, the concept being that since the publications were printed for the public they should be as widely distributed as possible. But there has been little acceptance from the commercial booksellers.

For one thing, the 27,000 Government Printing Office titles would present an enormous inventory problem for any bookstore. For another, most titles sell at a very low price. The profit potential apparently is not there.

In addition, the commercial sellers generally have rejected as too small the 25 per cent discount given on wholesale orders. They want, instead, a discount closer to 40 per cent.

Some publishers have, however, managed a seemingly more acceptable profit by reproducing the government works, which is their right, and selling them at prices higher than in the government catalogue.

Meanwhile, a Government Printing Office spokesman commented that the only recent expansion of orders from the regular retail outlets seems to be confined to college bookstores.

Oswald: "This type of overbid frequently pays off. This one did after South gave the hand a very good play."

Jim: "A good play but a standard one for handling the situation when you miss the ace-king-jack and ten of trumps."

Oswald: "South won the diamond opening and led his deuce of spades. West played the ten and South played the six from dummy. East took his king — he had to, and all South had to do to make his contract was to lead a second spade toward dummy's queen later."

Jim: "This is the sort of play that is almost automatic for a really good player but is missed by many others."

Oswald: "It is a matter of percentage. South doesn't really care about which opponent holds which trumps if each one holds two. If they are going to break 3-1 there is no way to avoid losing three trump tricks if East holds all three. If West holds three declarer has already seen the ten on the table. If East's singleton is the jack the low play costs South his contract; if it is the ace or king the low play brings it home."

Jim: "There is even more going for South when he plays low in this situation. If West started with ace-king-ten there is an excellent chance that he would have opened a trump. There is also an excellent chance that he would have gone up with the king on South's actual play."

Oswald: "There sure is! It takes a real clairvoyant to be smart enough to duck with that holding."

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Hospital insurance is a deductible expense, isn't it? One of your agents has disallowed this deduction which I had taken.

A — Cost of hospitalization insurance is deductible as a medical expense only when these expenses are itemized. Some taxpayers erroneously list hospitalization under "other" expenses where it is not subject to the 3 per cent floor or medical expenses. Perhaps this is what happened in your case.

Q — I am retiring and will be moving into an apartment. If we give our furniture away can we claim this as a charitable deduction?

A — You can if you give it to a charitable organization such as Goodwill or the Salvation Army. The fair market value of the furniture at the time of the donation should be used to determine how much may be deducted.

Q — Is it true that IRS will figure out your tax for you when you file the short form?

A —Yes, if your income is less than $5,000 and Form 1040A is filed then IRS will compute your tax if you wish. We will refund any overpayment of $1.00 or more or bill you for any additional tax due. A refund of less than $1.00 will not be made unless you attach a separate application to your return requesting it.

Q — What can be deducted by salesmen for the cost of operating a car?

A — You may be entitled to deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 7 cents a mile thereafter if you qualify, or you may deduct the actual cost of operation including depreciation. Of course your car travel must be an ordinary and necessary business expense. These rules are explained in more detail in the Form 1040 instructions.

Homemakers Hear Talk On Care Of Flowers

The Black Jack Homemakers Club met Feb. 15 at the home of Mrs. Vernon Stice with ten members and one visitor, Mrs. Lloyd Lewellyn, present.

Mrs. Claude Page presided over the business meeting with Mrs. Frank Page, Jr., giving the devotional. Plans were made to have a "Pig in the Poke" sale at the next meeting.

An interesting talk on "Care and Culture of Flowers" was given by Mrs. Elmer Bass. A Valentine potholder exchange was held. Mrs. Earl Oehrke led the group in several games. Cancer dressings were cut and made.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Lewellyn on March 15.

IRS Mysterious About CIA Money

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The manner in which the CIA was able to hush up its channeling of public funds to tax-exempt foundations was partially brought to light by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., back in 1964.

Patman did his best to dig into the CIA mystery but ran into a stone wall. Here is what happened when he cross-examined Internal Revenue officials on Aug. 31, 1964:

Patman — "On August 10 I asked you to explain the fact that the IRS has taken no action on the Kaplan Fund for several years, despite the fact that millions of dollars of tax liabilities may be involved.

"Mr. Rogovin (assistant to IRS Commissioner Caplin) indicated that the fund's operations with the CIA was the reason for the lack of action on the part of the IRS. Have you brought the file with you, Mr. Harding?"

Bertrand Harding (acting IRS head)—"I have not brought the file. It was my understanding. . . that it would be improper for me to comment on the material in that file."

Patman — "We want you to produce the file and, of course, there are ways we can do that. One is by a request, and the other is by a subpoena. I do not think you would want a subpoena issued for the file. Are you going to produce it for us?"

Harding — "Well, the investigative file is in New York."

Patman — "We made it rather plain that we wanted to have it at this time. We are going to have to request you to produce that file. Will you do it?"

Harding — "I would like to consult and answer that question later."

Let The CIA Answer

Rogovin — "The Revenue Service's action with respect to the Kaplan Fund has not been terminated, nor have we changed our legal opinion because of the CIA. That was a sensitive matter; we were dealing with it in a sensitive fashion, and there was some time delay as a result."

Patman — "In view of the fact that the Kaplan Fund has been under investigation by the IRS for a number of years prior to the CIA - Kaplan Fund - IRS arrangement, can you tell us why the CIA chose this fund to operate as a conduit for channeling funds?"

Rogovin — "I believe that would best be answered by a representative of the CIA."

Patman — "Is there a representative of the CIA here?"

Harding — "Not to my knowledge, sir."

Patman — "Did you tell Milan Miskovsky (a CIA official who talked to the IRS about the Kaplan Fund) that the fund was in trouble with IRS?"

Rogovin — "Yes, sir."

Patman — "And he is the only one at CIA that you dealt with?"

Rogovin — "No, I dealt with the general counsel, Lawrence Houston."

Patman — "How much money did the CIA channel through the J. M. Kaplan Fund, do you know?"

Rogovin — "No, I do not."

Was The Law Violated?

Patman — "The IRS has the responsibility to see that a foundation's funds are used in accordance with the law. Has the IRS examined the Kaplan Fund to determine whether the CIA funds — which are, of course, public funds — were actually disbursed by the Kaplan Fund? Mr. Harding, will you answer that?"

Harding — "Not to my knowledge."

Patman — "You have not gone into that at all?"

Harding — "No, sir; I have not."

Patman—"You have no knowledge of it?"

Harding — "I have no knowledge of it."

Patman — "A few days after our August 10 hearing, Mr. George Cary, who described himself as assistant legislative counsel of the CIA, called on me. He stated that the Kaplan Fund has been used as a conduit for channeling CIA funds, but he knew very little about it."

Rogovin — "I spoke to Mr. Miskovsky and advised him of the questioning and what I had spoken to you in confidence about."

Patman — "I, too, considered it confidential. But when they promise information which they never follow through with—then, I feel that they are trifling with me and I no longer have any obligation to them.

"Our study of the Kaplan Fund's operations indicates a large possible tax liability, as well as violations of treasury regulations and abuse of its public trust. . . I, personally, have the conviction that the expenditure of public funds is the public's business."

Patman presented Kaplan Fund tax returns for 1961, 1962 and 1963 in which there was no mention of receipt of CIA money. have also submitted evidence showing that the fund had received contributions from various groups.

Patman — "The addresses of these donors do not appear on the (Kaplan) fund's tax returns, despite the fact that such information is required by treasury regulations. . . will you submit the addresses right away, by tomorrow?"

Harding — "If we can locate the returns."

The returns were never located.

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. WILLIAMS

Married Since 1895

William Swearngins Spend 72 Happy Years Together

By Hazel Lang

It was 72 years ago that they were married, the pretty little teacher, Nancy Isabel Wheeland, who didn't like her name so she shortened it to Belle, and the youth who lived on a farm not to far from the school, William Marshall Swearngin, who wanted to, and did, change her last name.

The wedding took place on Feb. 24, 1895, in a little country church, the Bethel Baptist Church, two and a half miles west of Lincoln, the community in which the couple has lived all of their married life. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Rogers.

The day before their wedding anniversary she was 92 and in October he will be 91. "He has never been able to catch up with me" said Mrs. Swearngin, as she sat in the living room to the big old frame house in Lincoln where they have lived for the past 50 years. In front of her was a walker, because after she fell and broke her hip she hasn't been able to walk.

But that doesn't stop her. She still cooks, going about in her wheel chair, and she does many things about the house.

She broke her arm at another time, and that didn't hold her back either, but the second time she broke her arm she never could use it again as she used to do and so she can't crochet any more, and do other kinds of hand work she always loved to do.

There were a few touches of the modern world, like the television, but most of the home is probably just like it was 50 year ago when they moved in, and some of the furniture goes back much farther than that, perhaps to when they first went to housekeeping.

Mr. Swearngin was born at Post Oak on a farm about five miles Southwest of Lincoln, and Mrs. Swearngin was born seven miles Northeast of Sweet Springs. She and her mother later came to live with her grandparents after the death of her father, and when she was old enough she started teaching at a little school in the community of Lincoln near where she lived.

Willie Swearngin, who knew her a little at church, seemed to have a lot of excuses for passing that little school, especially at the time he thought she would be out where he could wave to her or maybe ride up to the stile out in front to talk to her, but somehow he never got any further than that.

Well, the old saying is, "Faint heart never wor fair lady" and that is right unless the lady gives it a push. This lady did. She knew he was in love with her, and she didn't want that love to die right there on the school grounds, so she sent him a Valentine. It was a simple one with the message: "If you will come see me tonight I will be your Valentine."

So he dolled all up and went to see her. It didn't seem like he had been there so long, but when kids are in love evenings pass much too quickly. He was a little surprised when grandfather appeared in his night clothes to tell him it was time to go home. After that he got a buggy with a top on it so he could take her to parties, and they got to seeing each other quite often. One evening he decided they had been going together long enough and this white haired man smiled in remembrance as he said: "So I popped the question, and she said 'Yes' ".

"I've never been sorry" said his wife.

The first week after they were married they lived with his parents. Then the family moved who had been living in the house and farm he had rented from his uncle, and they moved in where they lived two or three years. All the years have been spent in the Lincoln community except one year when they were in Kansas and he worked in a grocery store.

When they were married he was working for a farmer close by for $15 or $16 a month, he said. Here she added something, "I was teaching for $30 a month."

But after they were married he went to farming on his own. Later he did many things. For ten years he owned a butcher shop and he was getting a little tired of the butcher business, but still he didn't intend to sell. When someone wanted to buy the shop he priced it high enough that he thought they wouldn't be interested but they were. So, he sold it.

He worked with the highway department for five years, was city marshal of Lincoln for two years and was deputy sheriff for eight years.

There has been much joy in the 72 years but there has been sorrow, too. They were thrilled with the expectancy of their first baby, and when the time came they were doubly thrilled for there were two babies, a boy and a girl, whom they named Robert and Roberta. A little more than six years later, however, came their blackest year, for that year, when he was six years and nine months old, Robert died of diphtheria, and their baby, Carl, died at the age of six months and nine days.

They reared four children, Roberta Mothersbaugh, who lives in Windsor; Helen Peterson, who lives in Orlando, Fla., Guy Swearngin, Warsaw, whom his father nicknamed "Butch" because he wanted him to be a butcher like he was, and Ernest Swearngin, Sedalia. They have nine grandchildren, 14 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

On the floor of the home are rag rugs which Mrs. Swearngin has woven. She had a loom and for many years wove rugs and carpets for people who brought the rags to her. She charged just for the weaving and even wove some nine by 12 carpets. In a book she carefully recorded all of her weaving, the dates, the size and the prices since 1919. But, because of her arm, she cannot weave anymore.

Mrs. Swearngin is a collector. She started collecting stamps when she was in grade school, long before she ever knew anything about stamp collecting. She saw a stamp on a letter and thought it was pretty, after that she kept stamps and later put the stamps in a stamp book. She has real old photograph albums, too, and scrapbooks. One of her stamps is one of the first ever made.

In one book she has two public sale bills of sales they had. One dated Oct. 26, 1905 and the other, Oct. 25, 1911. At the bottom is "Terms made known day of the sale."

In the 1905 sale was listed one span spotted Arabian colts, one and two years. These were colts from the pony Mrs. Swearngin's grandfather gave her when she was a little girl and colts from that pony were purchased by the Sedalia fire department.

Mr. Swearngin, who doesn't wear glasses, likes to fish and fox hunt, being the top one in that community for fox hunting with 150. He still goes fishing and takes his wife along. She doesn't like to fish but she loves to read. He raises a big garden every year and last summer he would bring in vegetables and she would get them ready and put them in the deep freeze. He doesn't think he will have much of a garden this year, because he doesn't know what to do with all he raises. There was a time when hungry little youngsters would eat what he raised, but no more. They have plenty of food for the two of them and she still makes bread. She does her own laundry, too, but they have a girl who cleans for them and irons.

Mrs. Swearngin, in addition to all the other things she did, at one time was a correspondent for The Sedalia Democrat-Capital, as well as the Windsor Review, and the newspapers at Eldon, Cole Camp and Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Swearngin received the certificate of recognition of Benton County Century Club two years ago.

"I don't know why she married me" he said, "I wasn't rich and I wasn't good looking."

"Oh I just felt sorry for you" she laughed, "I thought I could help you and improve you."

"Well," commented her husband, "you didn't do a very good job."

Through the years there have been ups and downs, happiness and sadness, but looking back those 72 years have been good ones, mostly, and there in their home, that has been home so long, they are still planning together, looking forward to spring.

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — His parents and brother stood tall and proud.

But standing even taller Monday as he received the Medal of Honor for heroism in Vietnam was Marine Capt. Harvey Curtiss Barnum Jr., of Cheshire, Conn.

His parents, also of Cheshire, and his brother, Henry C. Barnum of Painted Post, N.Y., watched as Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze presented the medal to the 26-year-old officer.

He won the nation's highest award for taking command of a rifle company Dec. 18, 1965, and mopping up an enemy force "with complete disregard for his own safety."

Barnum is the fourth Marine to receive the medal for heroism in Vietnam.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has appointed former baseball commissioner Ford Frick as a $75-a-day consultant to the city's manpower and career development agency.

In making the announcement today, Lindsay said Frick would work with the city's business community "to open opportunities and career lines" for the unemployed.

SPECIAL HONOR—Seaman Recruit Charles F. Werneke, son of Mrs. Thelma Werneke, Houstonia, was awarded the Armed Forces American Spirit Honor Medal at the Recruit Graduation Review at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., Feb. 17. Werneke is a graduate of the University of Missouri. Following his 14-day leave, he is scheduled to attend Defense Language School at Monterray, Calif. Shown making the presentation is Reviewing Official, Captain C. C. Muehe, MC, USN, Chief of Orthopedics, Great Lakes Naval Hospital.

Extension Club Notes

South Abell Extension Club met Feb. 14, with Mrs. E. L. Bohon, Jr., with Mrs. Glenn Miller assisting.

After dinner the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. William Duesing.

Devotions were given by Mrs. E. L. Bohon, Jr., on the different parts of the Lord's Prayer concluding with the reading of the Lord's Prayer from the Bible.

Eight members answered roll call with a farm safety hint.

Reports were given by the youth chairman, Mrs. E. L. Bohon, Jr.; the reading charman, Mrs. R. G. Franklin; the citizenship chairman, Mrs. Bob Barker; and council report by Mrs. Walter Rissler.

The program on "Safety" was given by Mrs. R. G. Franklin and each worked on a safety check sheet to be followed by a five minute report at each meeting.

A reading from the book, "Oh, Ye Jigs and Juleps," by Virginia Carrie Hudson, was given by Mrs. R. G. Franklin.

Valentine and secret pal gifts were distributed and the meeting closed with singing of the 1967 club song, "How Great Thou Are," led by Mrs. Ralph Thomas.

Founders Day Theme At Whittier

Whittier PTA held its Founders' Day program Feb. 16, at which the following past presidents were introduced and presented gifts: Mrs. Kenneth Corbett, Mrs. H. M. Green, Mrs. A. J. Gregory, Mrs. William Dey, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. George Riley, Mrs. Ernest Sweringen, Mrs. Jack Herndon and Mrs. Grant Cox.

The meeting opened with Cub Scouts of Pack 60 presenting a flag ceremony. Steven Worley and Steven Goldsmith served as flag bearers, Mike Ulmer and Joe Herman led the group in the pledge of allegiance.

The 4th grade presented a Western play on the stage with a background of beautiful Western scenery.

Mrs. Marvin Nobles gave the devotional.

Mrs. Oliver Thomas, PTA representative on Crime Alert in Sedalia spoke briefly on detecting and reporting anything that looked suspicious.

Mrs. George Franklin presented a skit with Mrs. Oliver Thomas, Mrs. Robert Moon, Mrs. Edward Worley, Mrs. Charles Frisbie, Mrs. Robert Gooch and Mrs. William Boehm as the cast.

Ricky Thomas, Paul Calvert, Joe Herman and Mark Ballard, Cub Scouts, collected the Founders' Day offering.

John Hays, principal, took the room count, with awards going to the rooms taught by Mrs. Delores Renno and Donald Reynolds.

Following the meeting a Founders' Day Tea was held with Mrs. George Riley and Mrs. Grant Cox presiding at the punch bowls.

Start Of Day Brings Out Certain Types Of People

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — No drama about modern business life would be complete without an account of how people come to work each morning and meet the fresh challenge of a new day.

Just getting there, in many cases, is the biggest victory they may have in mind that day. It is a long way to go simply to find a place of rest in their home away from home.

If you are an inhabitant of an office zoo, some of these how-to-get-the-day-started types may be familiar to you:

The pioneer—as the first one in, he figures it is his empire. He walks around the empty place, picking up a pencil here, a paper clip there, then plods downstairs for a two-hour coffee break.

The suburbanite—He arrives swathed like a polar explorer or a pilgrim from Siberia. By the time he takes off his boots, removes his coats, unwinds his muffler, sheds his sweater, stops his teeth from chattering and swallows his cough medicine, he has 15 minutes left to do his work for the day. Then he must start rewrapping himself or he'll miss his train back to the suburbs.

The procrastinator — With a bustle of importance he rushes to his desk and stares at the work he left unfinished yesterday. When no one is looking, he picks up the papers and drops them on an empty desk some distance from his own. He figures that by the time the papers are found and sent through channels back to him, it will be tomorrow.

The gossip—"I just peeked into the office of the junior executive, and there was a single wilted rose lying on his calendar," she says. "Who do you suppose left it there, and when, and why?"

The stoic—Plodding to his swivel chair, he begins to scribble furiously on a pad as if his ideas were coming too fast for one hand to put down. Finally, he relaxes and leans back. He just figured out that he has 19 years 7 months, 2 weeks, one day, 7 hours and 53 minutes to go until he retires.

The semiofficial greeter—this chatterbox says "hello" to everybody, asks if they had any trouble getting home the night before, what they had for dinner, how they slept and whether they met any interesting bus drivers on the way to work this morning.

The office boy—lifting his wisp of blond beard from a paperback copy of the selected works of Kafka, he pours the contents of the in-basket into the out-basket then dumps the contents of the out-basket into the wastebasket. Marching out to the washroom, he stares lovingly into the mirror, combs his long hair with moddy fingers, murmurs aloud, "Life is chaos," and wonders what Proust would do if he had to earn his living in a business office.

The shop steward—touring the desks, he says: "let's pep up this joint with a gripe session. See me during the coffee break. But put your complaints in writing—I'll turn them into payday music."

The boss—he glares at every bent back with suspicious paternalism, stomps gruffly into his office, sails a paper airplane out the window and says to himself aloud: "It's a poor day to turn a profit—and a bad day to play golf."

Then he looks at the row of buttons on his desk waiting to be pushed. Holding out an indecisive thumb, he says: "Well, who'll I scare first?"

Another day at the office has begun.

Brazil had two emperors in its hostory: Dom Pedro and his son, Dom Pedro II.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — At least 51 persons were killed and about 370 injured in an earthquake that jarred the East Java city of Malang Feb. 20, the official news agency Antara reported today. Rescue crews are still looking for other victims.

The quake, which struck in the early morning, demolished more than 2,000 homes and damaged another 5,000.

The high plateau on which Malang is situated lies a few hundred miles east of Jakarta. It is bordered by several active volcanos.

The long delay in the report was attributed to communication disruptions which are chronic because of Indonesia's generally chaotic political and economic state.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet town of Ust-Kamchatsk on the Pacific Ocean will be moved to spare it from a tidal wave expected soon, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

The little port has been repeatedly damaged by tidal waves, the last in 1923.

Tass said that earthquakes on the bottom of the ocean will cause such waves to occur every 40 to 50 years and "a new seismic disturbance may be expected in the area shortly."

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The Thai government has seized $25 million worth of property allegedly misappropriated by the late Premier Sarit Thanarat, the secretary of a special government committee said today.

Local newspaper reports said this is about $30 million short of what Field Marshal Sarit is believed to have stolen between 1958, when he became premier, and 1963, when he died of liver trouble.

BRASILIA (AP) — Forty-four Brazilians, none of them currently active in national politics, were stripped of their political rights Monday for a 10-year period. No reason was given for the measure.

The action was taken by outgoing President Humberto Castello Branco under extraordinary powers which expire March 14 on the eve of the inauguration of President-elect Arthur da Costa e Silva.

Since Castello Branco came to power in 1964, more than 600 Brazilians have been deprived of their political rights. Justice Ministry officials said last week such action would be taken only against people accused of corruption.

Reaching Pre-Teens Is Better

CHICAGO (AP) — When a police sergeant was killed by two young men in 1965, an experiment was born to save youngsters at the crossroads of life.

The slaying was especially bitter for the workers at the Better Boys Foundation. The two men who killed the sergeant were among those the foundation was trying to help.

The incident convinced foundation workers they were failing with teen-agers. The board of directors decided to try to reach the boys before they entered adolescence.

Now there is hope and positive thinking by the small staff of a new program, "Operation Crossroads."

They work exclusively in the Lawndale area where the foundation is located. Perhaps better known by its residents as "K-town." It is predominantly Negro, and a haven for teen-age gangs.

'Operation Crossroads" is a term unknown to about 50 boys, 9 to 12 years old, enrolled in the experiment. They simply submitted applications to join the "club program."

"We felt we were failing with the older boys," Eugene Saunders, secretary, explained in an interview. "We had simply gotten the boys too late. The whole ghetto syndrome had corroded his character."

Eugene Perkins, operation director, said the theory behind the program is that boys between 9 and 12 are at the crossroads in life.

"Kids begin to identify then," he said, "and we try to help them form positive identifications."

Perkins said the program is designed to provide "positive identification through association with counselors and boys with leadership traits."

Nearly 90 per cent of the boys in "Operation Crossroads" have educational deficiencies, Perkins said. "So the program includes sessions to improve vocabulary, study hours and tutoring.

"There are kids in our group who have never been downtown, who don't realize there is a world outside their little ghetto," Perkins said. To meet this need, the program includes trips, movies and speakers from outside the area.

Saunders was guardedly optimistic about the progress of the program.

"I'm encouraged by what is going on, but it's too early to tell," he said. "I have seen some positive change in the kids' behavior toward us."

Oerly Circle Meets

Mrs. Josie Belle Hodges, California, was hostess to nine members of the Oerly Circle of the First Methodist Church of California on Feb. 20.

Mrs. Della Wolfe presented the program and devotion on the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. George Oerly, circle chairman, presided at the business meeting. Reports were given by the various committee chairmen.

Following the meeting the hostess served a dessert course with coffee and tea.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The widely used four-engine DC6 and DC7 airliners have been ordered by the Federal Aviation Agency to stop flying at high altitudes until assured it is safe to resume

Citing an accident last Friday in which a gaping hole erupted in the side of a Northeast Airlines DC6B, the FAA said that DC6s and DC7s must temporarily operate at altitudes where cabin pressurization is unnecessary.

The blowout accident has been tentatively attributed to failure of a weakened part of the fuselage because of the plane's internal air pressure.

As of the end of 1965, the FAA said, scheduled airlines were using 64 DC7s and 177 of the smaller DC6s. A spokesman for Douglas Aircraft, builders of the planes, said it was likely about 750 are still in service throughout the world — two thirds of the number built between 1946 and 1959.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearing that restrictions on burials of veterans at Arlington National Cemetery may be extended to all other national cemeteries, a veterans' organization is urging acquisition of land for more immediately.

National Commander A. Leo Anderson of the Amvets said Monday the states should assure veterans an honored final resting place by setting aside land now for use as national cemeteries.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman worried about the image of the salmon thinks a new name should be found for the form of food poisoning known as salmonellosis.

Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., introduced a resolution Monday calling on doctors and medical publications to find another name "that will not do violence to one of the great living resources of the sea."

Salmonellosis, he said, has nothing to do with fish — it's named for a veterinarian named Salmon, discoverer of the salmonella baceria.

Governor Moving Out

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan and family have selected a house and will move about April 1 from the aged executive mansion.

The Republican governor's new residence - leased from a city councilman and located in a tree-shaded residential area- will be "a wonderful house for children," said Mrs. Reagan.

The Reagans, with Patti, 13, and Skipper, 8, had complained about lack of play area, quiet and safety in the 89-year-old mansion, officially labeled a firetrap and surrounded by motels, service stations and busy intersections.

Wants $100,000

Rich Allen Prepared To Hold Out For Higher Pay

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When a guy grows up in Wampum, Pa., it's only natural that he develop a more than passing interest in money.

And when he hits .317, belts 40 home runs and knocks in 110 runs, the interest becomes intense.

So Rich Allen is prepared to spend this summer selling automobiles instead of belting baseballs unless the Philadelphia Phillies fill his pockets with cash.

Specifically, Allen is asking for $100,000, which is considerably more wampum than he got last year. He figures his figures make him worth the investment. But John Quinn, Philadelphia's general manager, who holds the purse strings, hasn't been swayed yet.

"Quinn saw me all last summer," argues Allen, who is keeping busy selling cars. "He knows what I did, what I didn't do. He talks about my salary going up a little each year.

"I want what I'm worth now, not when I'm ar old man. He's got my figure. Maybe he thinks I'll come down. I won't."

Allen said he started thinking about this year's contract and the $100,000 figure when he was hurt last summer. He missed 24 games with a lame shoulder.

"That's all a player has got — his body," reasons Rich. "If I'd be seriously hurt so I couldn't play, what would I have? Nothing."

So Allen, who made $42,000 last year, decided to ask for six figures this season. He likes the security that kind of money provides.

If Quinn comes up with the $100,000, he can have Allen in camp. But it'll take more than that to get Juan Marichal into a San Francisco Giants' uniform.

Juan is managing and playing second base for a softball team in his native Dominican Republic and the last time he was in touch with the Giants, he said "$125,000' and Chub Fenney said "no."

Marichal says he won't budge until Feeney meets his price but the Giants don't seem overly concerned.

"From what I hear," said owner Horace Stoneham, "Juan's in pretty good shape. I hope he is doing some throwing and keeping his arm loose."

It's a cinch Stoneham isn't thinking of the pivot throw from second base either.

Milt Pappas, who is holding out for more money from the Reds, was criticized by a former teammate Tuesday.

Jim O'Toole, traded by Cincinnati to the Chicago White Sox, backed up charges by Joe Nuxhall that Pappas has failed to give 100 per cent last season.

O'Toole, who was dealt for outfielder Floyd Robinson, said Pappas picked his spots.

"He would be ready when we faced the Mets or some other second division club," said O'Toole. "But when the hard-hitting teams came along, he would turn up with a headache.

"Pappas has a world of ability, but he never put out more than 69 per cent last season," said O'Toole.

Pappas was 12-11, O'Toole 5-7 and Nuxhall 6-8 for the seventh-place Reds last season.

Another holdout, Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians, expects to be traded by General Manager Gabe Paul.

"What else can I think," he said. "There have been absolutely no negotiations between us. I can't remember the last time we talked."

Iron Mike Falls To Older Pro

Sonny Myers beat Iron Mike of Omaha, Neb., two straight falls in the feature event on the wrestling card Tuesday night. The two big heavyweights produced some rough minutes for each other during this match.

Myers tok the first fall in 15 minutes, when Iron Mike was caught hitting the referee while a clinch was being broken up. As a result Iron Mike was disqualified and the fall went to Myers. In the second fall period, Myers succeeded in catching Iron Mike as he was bounced off the ropes and applied the sleeper hold. Time for the fall was eight minutes and ten seconds.

A six-man battle royal match provided some excitement for the fans with Ricky Hunter becoming the winer after Guillotine Gordon stayed in the ring until he was thrown over the ropes after five minutes and 15 seconds. First out of the ring was Lee Henning, two minutes and 25 seconds; next out went the twin masked men, The Pear and The Plum, both getting tossed over the ropes at the same time in four minutes and ten seconds; Victor Revera went out five second later, and then Hunter and Gordon battled for a minute for the winning honors.

The first match of the evening was a one-fall, 15 minute time limit event which was won by Lee Henning when Guillotine Gordon was disqualified for using his knee support on Henning's eyes. The match lasted six minutes and 50 seconds.

A special event of one-fall, 20 minutes time limit saw Victor Revera beat The Pear in 12 minutes and 10 seconds when he applied a reverse shoulder press to The Pear.

Ricky Hunter was the winner of the semi-final event over The Plum in a match scheduled for one fall no time limit. Hunter won after 13 minutes and 30 seconds when he applied and used the barrel roll and press.

The next matches will be Tuesday night at Convention Hall.

Americans Face Tough Up-Hill Run

VIENNA (AP) — An American duo faced an uphill battle and a pair of veteran Russians were set for a dramatic showdown today as the first title went on the line in the 1967 World Figure Skating Championships.

Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle, Wash., were in third place in the pairs competition going into today's decisive free skating. They had 97.9 points, better than the 96.8 for the West German duo of Margot Glockshuber and Wolfgang Danne but still trailed the Germans in the intricate scoring system.

The husband-wife team of Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov of Russia, the aging defending champions, whirled through driving rain and squalls in the opening compulsory competition on an open-air rink Tuesday to take the lead with 102.2 points. But they were the center of scores of rumors and widespread speculation.

Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., took the lead in the women's competition on opening day, while Scotty Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., and Gary Visconti of Detroit were third and fourth in the men's.

The American and German pairs both stand a chance to outskate the Russians in the free skating where everything depends on ingenuity, variety and acrobatics.

Ludmilla and Oleg may have sensed that they would face strong challengers. They have kept their free skating program a secret while all other pairs have shown their hands in practice and said what they are going to put on display.

In any case, it will be one challenging pair less for the Protopopovs. Their runners-up in last year's championships, fellow Russians Tatiana Zhuk and Alexander Gorelik, are watching the Vienna competitions from the sidelines. Everybody is guessing why.

At first, Russian spokesmen said Miss Zhuk still was suffering from a head injury. Then it was her blood pressure which was said to be too high. Then it was a strained muscle.

Miss Zhuk looks at the peak of good health and the rumors persist that she and her partner are deliberately kept out of the picture to allow the spotlight to remain on the veteran pair.

Doral's Golf Course Is Long And Very Tough

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Golfers who prefer the challenge of a long, tough course will find Doral to their liking — 7,002 yards of agony and hazards that have made the course The Blue Monster in golf lexicon.

When a choice field of pros tees off Thursday in the $100,000 tourney, it'll be strictly man versus par on the palm-fringed but also water-trapped layout.

In the six-year history of the tournament, winners who banked the $20,000 prize have always broken par — two-under for an average. But this year the monster may look tougher to the field that includes Arnold Palmer, the only PGA two-tourney winner this year, Jack Nicklaus, and defending champion Phil Rodgers.

During a remeasurement of the course for rating, par was reduced on the 10th hole from 5 to 4 for the maximum-permitted 470 yards.

As in most tourneys, Palmer and Nicklaus, who have never conquered the par-71 Doral, are considered strong bidders. Billy Casper, two-time Doral winner, is on a tour of the Orient.

"I'm playing well," says Rodgers, freckled ex-Marine who edged Jay Dolan and Kermit Zarley by a stroke last year. "If my putter works, I should do all right again."

Nebraska Defeats Missouri

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska overcame Missouri 80-73 Tuesday night with an eye out for Saturday's regionally-televised game against Big Eight leader Kansas, a game that could have a bearing on the conference basketball championship.

As a result, the slippery Tigers almost got away from the Cornhuskers who had to put a second-half halter on Missouri's Ron Coleman to pull it out.

Missouri led at halftime 41-34, largely because of Coleman's 25-point performance, but he was held to five points after intermission and with him went the Tigers' chances for an upset.

At one point in the first half Coleman scored 12 straight points, but it was a different story in the second half after Husker Coach Joe Cipriano assigned Jim Damm to defend against him.

Damm held Coleman scoreless thereafter until with a minute and 38 seconds to go Nebraska reserves took over, and it was too late for Missouri, behind 78-62. That also was the Huskers' biggest bulge.

Nebraska hit 31 of 65 field goal attempts for a 47.7 shooting percentage. Missouri got 27 of 85 for 31.8 per cent, reflecting its poor second half.

Coleman's 30 points was good for scoring honors. Stuart Lantz was the Nebraska high scorer with 25 points. The Tigers salvaged a 47-43 rebound advantage, led by Tom Johnson with 16.

The Cornhuskers can tie the Jayhawks for first place by winning on their home court at Lincoln Saturday. Nebraska is nursing a 9-2 record in the conference, and Kansas is 10-1. Missouri is 1-11.

After Saturday's game, Nebraska and Kansas each has two more conference games, with the advantage, slight if any, going to the Jayhawks who play both at Lawrence. The Huskers play one at home, and one away.

The only other game this week is a Thursday night encounter between Oklahoma State, 1-9 in the conference, and Iowa State, 4-7, at Stillwater.

In other games Saturday, Iowa State is at Oklahoma, 4-7; Oklahoma State at Kansas State, 7-4, and Colorado, 8-3, at Missouri.

Meeting Date Is Set By Local Booster Club

The Sedalia Booster Club has scheduled a noonday meeting for Friday at the Pacific Room of the Pacific Cafe. It will be a program on football.

John Herbst, president of the Club, announced the speaker for the program will be one of the coaches at the University of Missouri. He will speak on the prospects for the M. U. Tigers this fall and will probably have a film or two of "Highlights of the 1966 Season."

Members are urged to attend and take along a guest or two for this meeting.

President Herbst also reported prospects for a top-notch meeting is already being arranged for the meeting in April, which has tentatively been set for the 7th.

Ernie Banks Has First Executive Title Of Life

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Ernie Banks, the lifeline of the Chicago Cubs since he came up in 1953, now owns his first executive title.

The 36-year-old Banks, awaiting the start of his 14th full season with the Cubs, has been named a player-coach.

"Ernie will be a great asset and invaluable addition to our coaching staff," manager Leo Durocher said.

Asked if the coaching role may mean the end of Banks' playing career, Durocher said: "Absolutely not. I said before spring training that I was going to give the kid (John Boccabella) a long look at first base. This will enable Ernie to take his time getting in shape and then we will decide who is going to play first base.

"Only then will we know whether Boccabella ran Banks off first, or Banks ran Boccabella out of the job. They are the only candidates."

Becker Signed On

CHICAGO (AP) — Wayne Becker, an offensive lineman from the University of Montana, was signed today by the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Becker, 6-foot-7 inch, 265 pounds, was the No. 13 future pick in last year's NFL draft.

NCAA Cage Tourney Is Set To Go

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Writer

The 36-team NCAA College Division basketball tournament gets underway March 7 at Springfield, Mass., and New Britain, Conn., but the big guns don't roll into action until March 10, the NCAA announced today.

One of the toughest regionals is at Springfield, Mo., where Springfield State, No. 8 in the nation, meets Arkansas AM&N in the first game and third-ranked Lincoln University of Missouri takes on Arkansas State in the nightcap. No other regional has more than one team from the Associated Press' small college poll.

Second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan meets Stetson of Deland, Fla., March 9 at the South Central Regional in Evansville, Ind., also the site of the finals March 15-16-17. South Carolina State and highly-regarded Tennessee State complete the foursome.

Cheyney (Pa.) State, No. 4, is at Allentown, Pa.; fifth-rated Indiana State plays in the Great Lakes Regional at Terre Haute, Ind.; Akron, No. 6, is at home for the Mideast Regional, and San Diego State, No. 9, is the host club for the Pacific Coast Regional.

The regional winners play at Evansville the following week.

Two Men And Hope Replace Top Hurler

VERO BEACH, Fla., (AP)— How do you replace Sandy Koufax?

Simple. Replace him with two men. And hope.

That's the Los Angeles Dodgers' plan for 1967.

"We k ow you can't replace Koufax," Dodger pitching coach Harold (Lefty) Phillips said Tuesday, "but you have to go on. Last year, we carried nine pitchers. This year, we'll carry at least 10.

"If we had to open the season tomorrow, Bob Miller (4-2 in 1966) and Joe Moeller (2-4) would be our fourth and fifth starters. Both can start and do major league jobs."

The Dodgers will miss more than Koufax' 27 victories. The great left-hander, who retired last winter because of his arthritic pitching elbow, completed 27 of his 41 starting assignments. Sandy had more complete games than the rest of the staff combined.

To Quarter Finals

S-C Tigers Move Up In Tourney

The Smith - Cotton Tigers, Tuesday night, moved from the first round of the State Class L Regional tournament at Columbia to the quarter finals when they defeated the Hannibal Pirates by a two-point margin of 55 - 53.

In the opening first round game the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia defeated the Kirksville Tigers 80-39, to also advance to the quarter finals.

Thursday night the Smith-Cotton Tigers will meet the Central Missouri Conference Champions, Hickman Kewpies in the first game of the evening. The game will start at 7 o'clock.

The Tigers jumped into a quick eight point lead in the opening period scoring 13 to 5; but Hannibal retaliated in the second by scoring 18 to 16, not enough to grab the lead and the Tigers were out front at intermission time of 29 to 23. In the third quarter the Tigers were able to hold their own and picked up three points scoring 15-12. Then the Pirates began to show determination to win and scored 18 to 11, only two points short of victory.

The Tigers in that opening quarter put on a whirlwind defense stealing the ball after ball, and grabbing most of the rebounds of the Pirates unsuccessful shots. The Pirates tightened up in the second as the Tigers relaxed to outscore the locals.

In the third period the Tigers press returned momentarily and they moved in for 15 points, but the Pirates began coming on and got six charity tosses which were good to be combined with three dual pointers.

The test comes Thursday in that meeting with Hickman to go into the finals.

Threat Of Players' Boycott

NEW YORK (AP) — A threat of a players' boycott of the upcoming National Basketball Association playoffs loomed today in an atmosphere of confusion.

A retroactive pension plan is at the heart of the controversy. The players say they have discussed this matter with the league; the league says no.

The player representatives of the league's 10 teams announced at a meeting here Tuesday that they would stage a sit-down strike if their demands aren't met by the time the playoffs begin in three weeks.

"The major part of our differences with the owners is that the pension program they offer is far short," said Lawrence Fleischer, the players' attorney. "We received what seems to be their final offer last Friday, and it was rejected unanimously here by the player representatives."

NBA President Walter Kennedy countered with a news conference at halftime of the first game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Kennedy said he first knew of the players association's announcement when he received a telegram at 3:35 p.m., stating:

"Player association at a meeting today, voted unanimously to turn down proposals of Board of Governors in reply to our request, (signed) Oscar Robertson."

He also said that he had held a series of meetings last week with Fleisher and that a retroactive pension plan was not discussed. In fact, he said, the players had never made a request for such a plan known to the league.

Similarity Is Deeper Than Names

CINCINNATI (AP) — There's enough similarity in the names Robertson and Roberson that basketball fans around here confuse them. But the similarity doesn't end there.

Not since the great Oscar Robertson — the Big O — as a sophomore led the University of Cincinnati basketball team in scoring and rebounding. That was 10 years ago.

But Rick Roberson from Memphis, Tenn., is likely to achieve that distinction this season.

With one game remaining, the 6-foot-9, 250-pound sophomore center has averaged 14.5 points and 12.4 rebounds a game.

"He has the potential to be one of the best centers the University of Cincinnati has ever had," says Coach Tay Baker.

Roberson has been the sparkplug in Cincinnati's 16-9 record in a pressure-packed campaign. Cincy has had eight one-point games and five overtime contests.

The Bearcats close the regular season Friday night against cross-town rival Xavier University.

Roberson, who missed two early games because of a sprained ankle, was initiated by some of the top big men in the country. He's battled St. Louis' Rich Niemann (7-0) and Drake's Bob Netolicky (6-9) for honors as the Missouri Valley Conference's No. 2 rebounder behind Louisville's All-America Westley Unseld (6-8).

Roberson's scoring statistics are more impressive in light of Cincinnati's controlled offense and that balanced scoring is stressed.

"We don't feed Rick and we stress defense, which may mean that his scoring average is not as high as a lot of other big men," said Baker.

But on defense, Roberson is the center of action. In 23 games he has blocked 61 enemy shots and many others went astray because of his hand high in the air.

Alcindor Honored As Top Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's supersophomore, was named today as the college basketball Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

The agile, 7-foot-1⅜ giant spread-eagled the field in the separate balloting that accompanied the voting for the 1967 All-America team which was announced Tuesday.

Alcindor, a native New Yorker who has lived up to all the rosy predictions made when he was still in high school, received 215 of 290 votes cast. Far behind in second place was Jim Walker of Providence with 49.

"Alcindor, who else?" was the comment of many voters.

Westley Unseld of Louisville's Missouri Valley Conference champions, was third with eight votes. Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Ron Widby of Tennessee and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers tied for fourth with four votes each.

Bob Verga of Duke, Eldridge Webb of Tulsa, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, and Larry Miller of North Carolina, Don May of Dayton, Sam Williams of Iowa received one vote each.

Alcindor dominated even more the voting for the All-America by 308 sports writers and broadcasters, 18 of whom did not participate in the separate balloting for player of the year.

Big Lew received 306 first team votes in the A-A voting for a total of 1,530 points on the basis of five for a first and two for a second team nod. He did not receive any second team votes which meant he was ignored completely by just two voters.

Selected on the first team with Alcindor were Walker, Unseld, Haskins and Elvin Hayes, the Big E of Houston, who did not receive any vote for player of the year.

Verga, Widby, Miller and Lloyd were named to the second team along with Louie Dampier of Kentucky, who slipped from the 1966 xirst team.

Daniels was chosen on the third team with Butch Beard of Louisville, Sonny Dove of St. John's, New York, Jim Burns of Northwestern and David Lattin of Texas Western.

Lucious Allen of UCLA topped the honorable mentions which included May, Williams and Web.

Each player on the first three teams will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Duke Still Very Much In Tournament

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't count Duke out of the NCAA postseason tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

The Blue Devils from Durham, N.C., are on the way back after being virtually counted out in the wake of their two December trouncings by the top-ranked UCLA Bruins and their supersophomore, Lew Alcindor.

Led by Bob Verga's 39 points, Coach Vic Bubas' boys crushed Wake Forest 113-71 Tuesday night for their fourth in a row and 11th victory in their last 12 starts.

Ahead is a Saturday afternoon game with nationally third-ranked North Carolina and then next week's Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament for an NCAA berth.

Verga scored 15 field goals on 20 shorts and converted nine of 10 free throws as the Blue Devils upped their season record to 16-6. It was the highest point total ever for a visiting player on the Wake Forest court.

The Blue Devils reached the semifinals of the 1966 national tournament before losing to Kentucky at College Park, Md. They finished in third place by beating Utah.

Elvin Hayes of Houston and Jim Walker of Providence, named to the first team All-America by The Associated Press before game time, shared the scoring headlines with Verga.

Hayes scored 41 points for the seventh-ranked Houston team to lead the Cougars in a 106-64 home court rout of New Orleans Loyola.

Walker tallied 38 points to pace Providence to a 68-67 squeaker over the visiting DePaul Blue Demons. Two free throws by Walker in the last 33 seconds provided the winning margin.

The 10th-ranked Boston College Eagles, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, similarly pulled out an 80-76 home court victory over Canisius on successful free throws in the closing seconds.

Jack Kvancz converted twice from the foul line to break a 76-76 tie with 51 seconds left. Four seconds later Doug Hice sank two more free throws for the final points.

Walt Tiberi, with 23 points, and Ron Kozlieki with 20 combined for 43 points to lead Northwestern to a 91-82 victory over Wisconsin at Evanston and keep the Wildcats one game back of first-place Indiana in the torrid Big Ten scramble.

Nebraska also kept its Big Eight hopes alive with an 80-73 road victory over Missouri behind Stuart Lantz's 25 points. Ron Coleman got 30 for the losers.

Omaha Gains Tie For CIC Crown After Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Omaha defeated Emporia State 82-74 Tuesday night and gained a tie for the CIC championship. Omaha and Washburn each have 6-2 records.

Rockhurst defeated Washburn in a non-conference game 74-64 and William Penn of Iowa beat Culver-Stockton 99-92 in another non-conference game.

Emporia State led Omaha by two points four times, but with 12 minutes to go, Omaha scored seven straight points and went ahead to stay. Dennis Browne led Omaha with 21 points and Dave Mossman of Emporia State had 15.

There will be no playoff for the CIC title.

Rockhurst's Jim Healey scored 23 points and Jerry Berlin popped in 19 for Washburn. With less than three minutes to play, Washburn pulled within four points at 68-64, but that was it. Rockhurst sewed it up in the final minutes with a field goal and four free throws.

Rockhurst is 16-10 for the season, Washburn 17-5.

Loran Niles scored 39 points to lead William Penn, getting 23 of them in the second half. William Penn is 15-9 for the season. Culver-Stockton finished with a 13-12 mark.

Louisville Wraps Up MVC Title

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Writer

The Louisville Cardinals, led by all-America Westley Unseld, have wrapped up the Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship and a NCAA berth, but all eyes are focused on the battle for second place.

Tulsa, with a bid to the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) already in its pocket, is currently in second place after Mike Marrs dropped in a free throw after the game ended Saturday to edge St. Louis 60-59. But Wichita, 84-78 victors over Louisville last Saturday, has a good chance to take runner-up honors.

Both Tulsa and Wichita play Thursday—Tulsa at Drake and Wichita and North Texas in Wichita. Then Tulsa and Wichita wind up the season face-to-face at Wichita Saturday.

Louisville dominated the league in statistics as well as in games won and lost. The second-ranked Cardinals finished in front in offense (77.6 points per game), field goal accuracy (.504), free throw accuracy (.748) and average scoring margin, topping their foes by an average of 12.6 points per game.

St. Louis leads in rebounds, averaging 46.3, while Tulsa is the leader with fewest fouls, 12.3 per game and the Hurricanes 14.4 personals per game over-all is the nation's best.

The best defensive club in the Valley is Cincinnati, holding its foes to an average of 64.1. Louisville is second at 65, edging Tulsa with 65.3.

New conference member Memphis State, which doesn't begin play for the league crown until next season, completed its schedule with a 17-8 record and accepted a bid to the NIT.

On Saturday, besides the Tulsa-Wichita clash, St. Louis is at Bradley in a televised contest.

Cincinnati winds up Friday against home-town foe Xavier and St. Louis finishes next week against Washington of St. Louis.

Phillips New Coach

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A. O. (Bum) Phillips is the new defensive line coach of the American Football League's San Diego Chargers.

Phillips, 43, coached at the University of Houston the past two seasons. He replaces Walt Hackett, who resigned last month.

Chamberlain Sets Field Goal Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ho hum. Wilt Chamberlain has broken another record.

Big Wilt made the first four shots he took Tuesday night in over Cincinnati at Syracuse, Philadelphia's 127-107 victory N.Y., giving him a National Basketball Association record of 35 straight field goals.

The old record was 31 seraight, set earlier this year by Chamberlain.

The record before that was 19 straight, held by Chamberlain.

Besides hitting on 11 of 14 field goal attempts and scoring 28 points, Chamberlain also picked up nine assists and grabbed 36 rebounds against the Royals. Cincinnati was led by Oscar Robertson with 24 points.

The other two games on the schedule were played as a doubleheader in New York.

A field goal by Jerry West and a fumbled pass by Detroit's Dave DeBusschere gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 119-117 victory over the Pistons in the first game, and Willis Reeds field goal nailed down a 127-123 victory for New York over San Francisco in the second.

West, who scored 34 points, broke a 117-117 tie with 37 seconds remaining by hitting a jump shot. Then with six seconds to go, DeBusschere, Detroit's player-coach, took an inbounds pass and fumbled the ball right back out of bounds.

Baylor added 24 points for Los Angeles. Dave Bing and Eddie Miles scored 22 each and DeBusschere 21 for the Pistons.

Reed's basket with 27 seconds remaining put New York ahead 125-121 and ruined a 17-point, fourth quarter performance by San Francisco's Rick Barry.

Barry finished with 36 points. Reed scored 24 for New York, and Dick Van Arsdale added 23, Walt Bellamy 22 and Cazzie Russell 20.

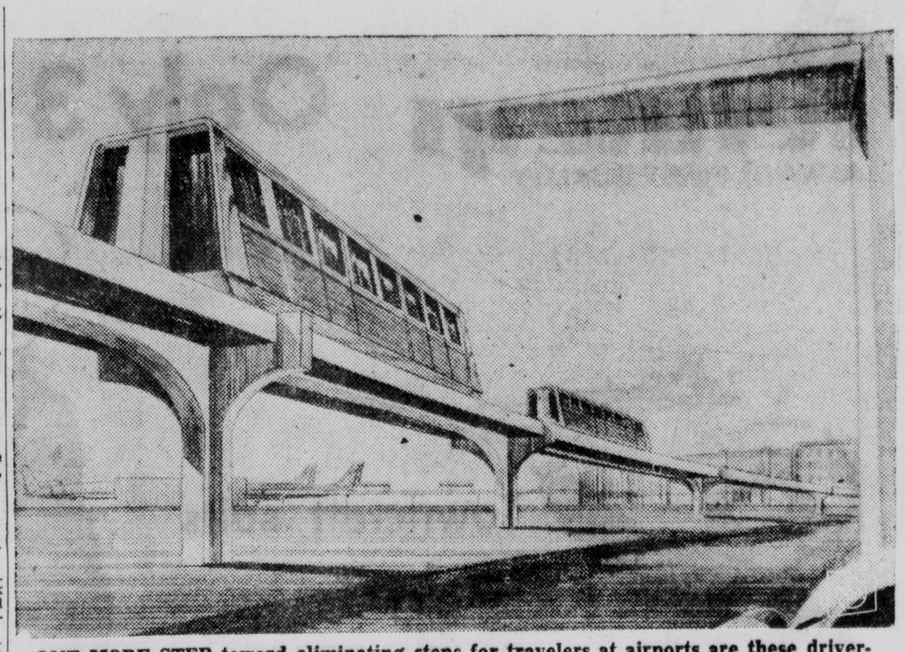
960 Traffic Deaths

MEXICO CITY (AP) — This capital had 960 traffic deaths last year, the Transit Department announced. It noted that the number of cars here increased from 225,596 in 1959 to 404,222 in 1966.



ONE MORE STEP toward eliminating steps for travelers at airports are these driverless, rubber-tired vehicles due to be installed at the Tampa International Airport in Tampa, Fla. The passenger transport system, built by Westinghouse Electric, that will whisk passengers from the terminal to their planes is scheduled to be ready for operation in 1969.

In Civil Rights Slaying

Klan Leader Added To US Record Of People Involved

By JOHN PEARCE

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leader has been added to the list of those the federal government contends were involved in the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

Sam Bowers Jr., a Laurel coin machine distributor, was one of 19 men charged Tuesday on a federal conspiracy indictment.

Bowers, whom the FBI says is the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — the most violent and most clandestine of the various Klan groups — had not previously been named in the Philadelphia case.

He was, however, indicted last year in the Vernon Dahmer firebombing death at Hattiesburg.

The federal grand jury which returned new indictments in the Philadelphia case also reconsidered the Dahmer case.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox of Jackson said indictments were returned in the Dahmer case when the grand jury session ended at Jackson Monday. A federal source said these would be disclosed today at Hattiesburg.

Of the 18 arrested at Meridian in the Philadelphia case, 16 — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 43, and his chief deputy, Cecil Price, 28 — had been previously indicted on federal charges in connection with the slayings.

All 18 surrendered and each posted a $5,000 bond.

The first indictments, obtained in January 1965, were dismissed last year on grounds of improper composition of the grand jury.

Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, disappeared with James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro, June 21, 1964, shortly after Price released them from jail at Philadelphia.

They had gone to investigate the burning of a Negro church near Philadelphia. Several days later their burned station wagon was found, hidden in dense undergrowth at the edge of a swamp.

The bodies of the three were found two months later beneath a freshly built earthen dam. All three had been shot.

"It was a part of the plan and purpose of the conspiracy," the new indictment charged, for Price to release the three from jail at such time" that he and eight other defendants "could and would intercept . . . (them) . . . and threaten, assault, shoot and kill them."

The eight others named in the indictment were Jimmy Arledge, 29, Meridian; Horace Doyle Barnette, 28, Cullum, La., formerly of Meridian; Travis Maryn Barnette, 38, Meridian; Jimmy Snowden, 33, Meridian; James Edward Jordan, 40, formerly of Gulfport; Billy Wayne Posey, 30, Meridian; and erry McGrew Sharp, 24, Philadelphia.

Jordan, the 19th man, was not arrested here Tuesday. He became one of the FBI's key informants in the case and now is living somewhere in Florida.

When the FBI made the initial arrests in the case Dec. 4, 1964, it said the killings were "a Klan assassination plot."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said more than $750,000 was spent in its exhaustive investigation and 258 agents were assigned to the case.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doar, chief civil rights troubleshooter for the Justice Department, made the government's presentation of the case last week to a grand jury at Jackson.

The 19 were indicted under felony provisions of an 1870 civil rights statute providing a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The indictment specifically charged the defendants "conspired together, with each other and with other persons to the grand jury unknown to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" the trio "in the free exercise" of their constitutional rights not to be deprived of life or liberty without due process of

The "under color of law of the state of Mississippi" charge stems from the alleged participation of Rainey, Price and Philadelphia patrolman Richard law "under color of law."
Willis, 42, who also was indicted.

The others charged with conspiracy were Bernard Lee Akin, 52, Meridian; Olen Lovell Burrage, 36, Philadelphia, owner of the farm where the bodies were found; James Thomas Harris, 33, Meridian; Frank J. Herndon, 48, Meridian; the Rev. Edgar Ray Killen, 42, Union, Miss.; Alton Wayne Roberts, 28, Meridian; Herman Tucker, 38, Philadelphia, and E.G. (Hop) Barnett, 47, Philadelphia, a former Neshoba sheriff.

Barnett was not among those originally indicted.

Bowers and 14 other Jones County men were indicted last year in the Dahmer case.

Dahmer, a Hattiesburg Negro leader, died after a fire-bombing attack on his home in January 1966.

Uruguay's President A Pilot

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, (AP) — Oscar Diego Gestido, who becomes president of Uruguay Wednesday, is a bushy-browned military pilot of 65.

"My family and I love to fly," he says. "That's why we are always up in the air.

"My wife likes it, my son is in the air force, my daughter is married to an aviator, and my other son is in the civil aviation."

Gestido is also a husky 6-foot-2 retired army general who has a reputation for being an efficient civilian administrator. He believes "there is no magic formula for running things well—just honesty of mind, hard work, meticulous routine and planning for the future."

Friends and foes classify him as a politician skilled in cultivating the grass roots.

He resigned last year as one of the nine presidents of Uruguay's inefficient government council to campaign alone as a dark horse for his Colorado party.

He joined the bandwagon of Uruguay's two big parties for the return to a single president system, and ran on a platform of straight talk about honesty, justice and efficient administration.

He was a monotonous speaker, but he rode a landslide. The November elections did away with the Swiss-type system of government by nine wise men and also gave the new president sweeping powers over Congress.

Gestido admits that "deep inside" he will always be a military man, but explains he ran "as a civilian politician" and will govern Uruguay as such for the next five years.

The second child of a family of modest means, Gestido was born here Nov. 28, 1901. He was commissioned into the army at 21, as a military academy graduate.

He retired from the ranks in 1955, after a four-year stint as inspector general, a job then equivalent to commander in chief of the three armed services.

He entered active politics in relatively minor administrative jobs—to run the Uruguayan state railways and Pluna, the state airline.

Gestido had to reorganize them and he is credited with doing a first-rate job.

Blankenship Article In Noted Publication

An article by Dr. W. C. Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Blankenship, 1014 East Sixth, appeared in the national publication "College and Research Libraries," in the January, 1967, issue.

Dr. Blankenship is a professor of Library Science at Wisconsin State University, Whitewater, Wisc., and the article was titled: "Head Librarians."

His wife, the former Elizabeth Booth, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Booth, Marshall, and also holds a master's degree in library science.

LBJ Portrait Prize Goes To Mailman

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Carl Bieber, a 37-year-old mailman, has won first prize in a Paint-the-President contest—and may be forgiven a slight case of the jitters.

Bieber's boss, Lyndon B. Johnson, is said to have dismissed a recent effort by professional artist Peter Hurd as "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

The North Platte, Neb., postman executed his portrait in ink and enamel on a plastic background. It was judged best of more than 1,550 entries received by the Omaha World-Herald, the contest sponsor, and won a $50 prize.

The contest was prompted by the recent White House rejection of the portrait by Hurd, who had received a $6,000 retainer from the White House Historical Association. Hurd said the President described the result as ugly, and that Mrs. Johnson didn't like it either.

Runnerup in the World-Herald contest was a switch on a famous World War I recruiting poster in which Uncle Sam pointed a finger at the viewer above the caption "I want you." In the contest version, by Steven McCoy, 21, an Omaha art student, LBJ replaces Uncle Sam and demands recruits for the administration's Great Society.

Music Club Subject On 'Patriotism'

"American Patriotism in Music" was the program presented on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 22, by Helen G. Steele Music Club at Heard Memorial Club House.

Opening with the salute to the flag, the members and guests sang the National Anthem under the direction of Mrs. Robert Seelen, with Mrs. A. W. Barrick, accompanist.

Mrs. Jack Cunningham, narrator, told of the universal use of music since Bible times.

In each war, songs colored by incidents of government, have been written. Some of these were "Liberty Song," "Yankee Doodle," "The Star Spangled Banner." "Dixie." "Spirit of '76" was presented by three Smith-Cotton High School students. They were Marjorie Thomas, piccolo, Melford Baker, drum, and Tim Fine, trumpet. Dressed in the costumes of '76, they presented a most colorful number.

A piano solo, "Battle of Trenton" was dedicated by Hewitt, the composer to George Washington, and was played by Mrs. Mac Harding.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic" by J. W. Howe, Arr. by P. J. Wilhousky, was sung by the choral group.

"Rose of No Man's Land" by Jack Caddigan and James A. Brennan was presented as a vocal duet by Mrs. Jack Herndon and Mrs. Robert Seelen, with Mrs. John Gross as a Red Cross Nurse.

The ever popular "Stars and Stripes Forever" by J. P. Sousa was presented as a piano duo by Mrs. John Rundlett and Mrs. Gary Schwartz. Sousa, Mrs. Cunningham continued, was the March King and was leader of the Marine Band for 12 years. Then he resigned to organize his own band. His philosophy of music is expressed in his own quotation, "Music is the finest profession in the world because it is the only one that does not bring sorrow." On a return trip from Europe he wrote the trade-mark of American Music, "The Stars and Stripes Forever." At his death, his library of music was bequeathed to the University of Illinois at Urbana. It is probably the most extensive library of band music in existence. When ready for shipment, the library filled 42 trunks and included nine tons of compositions.

"God Bless America" written by Irving Berlin was sung by Kate Smith, radio singer, who wanted a patriotic selection to sing in an Armistice Day broadcast. It immediately became a favorite and soon everybody was singing it. Irving Berlin announced that all royalties from the sale of the song were to be given to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts of America. These organizations received eight cents for every copy sold and the money was spent in promoting their activities. By the summer of 1940, 500,000 copies had been sold. This selection was sung by the Choral Group.

"Ballad of The Green Berets" by S.Sgt. Barry Sadler, was presented by the Choral Group and a quartet composed of Mrs. Donald Barnes, Mrs. Robert Seelen, Mrs. Keith Zahringer and Mrs. Hugo Riesel, Jr.

The program closed with a series of Bugle Calls presented by Victor Stuart, Smith-Cotton High School. The trumpet call, Mrs. Cunningham stated, has been the utility music of all the wars and all the military groups. The bugle plays an important role in every military outfit. The bugler is often the most conspicuous of all enlisted men. He usually is a sergeant. The chief bugler holds practice sessions for less experienced players while the rest of the company is out on drill. Reveille, Assembly call. Stable call, Breakfast call. Fatigue call, then taps or Retreat.

The prayer of Oliver Wendell Holmes was then read by Mrs. Cunningham, "One Flag, one land, one heart, one hand, one nation, evermore. The Choral group was composed of Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mrs. Donald Barnes, Mrs. Bill Burkholder, Mrs. T. E. Gasperson, Mrs. Adolph F Scott, Mrs. C. M. Huddleston. Mrs. Shelby Hunter, Mrs. George Lovercamp, Mrs. Harold Pittman, Mrs. Hugo Riesel, Mrs. Robert Seelen, Mrs. Jack Herndon, Mrs. Gary Schwartz, Mrs. M. O. Stevens, Mrs. Keith Zahringer, Mrs. I. H. Lehmer. Mrs. Eugene Logan, Mrs. J. W. Watts and Mrs. Stanley Fisher. Director of the chorus was Mrs. William Garton, with Mrs. James Penn, accompanist.

Chairmen for this inspiring and patriotic program were Mrs. William Garton, Mrs. John S. Rundlett ard Mrs. H. C. Johnson.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. L. H. Hodges.

Sympathy was extended to the family of Mrs. George Hoffman, a faithful member for many years of the Music Club.

The following guests were introduced, Mrs. Kenneth Fine, Mrs. Pearl Stuart, Mrs. Virgil Baker, Mrs. Lorene Lawrence, Mrs. Robert Shanklin and M. D. Weathers.

4-H Club Notes

"Manners in Public Places" was the activity program given at the Houstonia 4-H Club meeting on Feb. 13, at the R-V grade school by Paula Fischer, Cindy Wicker, Cindy Wiley and Jonathon Grant.

Pat Woods was chosen to represent Houstonia in the Washington short course.

The "Share the Fun" committee was appointed.

There were 26 members present.

Talk On UN Heard By Lincoln WSCS

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Lincoln Methodist Church met Feb. 15 in the church parlor with 20 members and one visitor present.

Mrs. Helen Brill gave the lesson on "Living in the World of Nations." Appropriate scripture, songs and prayer were a part of the short devotional.

Mrs. Brill gave only two of the many purposes of the U.N., first, to show how we are involved in world problems; and secondly, to set forth what we can do to help meet the needs.

Those who had topics about the U.N. and its work were Mrs. Louella Nash, Mrs. R. C. McCandless, Mrs. Ethel Yancey, Mrs. Irvin Boring. Mrs. Christine Erlenbrisch and Mrs. J. L. Attwood.

Following a short business meeting, the group retired to the church dining room for refreshments. Hostesses were Mrs. S. A. Gardner and Mrs. Henry Kuilman.

Road Safety Burden On Ex-Newsman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The task of shaping the highway construction and traffic safety programs of the future falls officially on the shoulders of a former Ohio newspaperman who once balked at accepting a different government job.

He is Lowell K. Bridwell, a 42-year-old former transportation writer who will serve in the new Department of Transportation as the federal highway administrator.

The decisions he and his staff will make — and already have made in the transportation field — will affect the lives of virtually all Americans.

For not only will Bridwell have responsibility over the federal aid road building program but he also will be responsible for new traffic safety and vehicle safety programs just getting under way.

Bridwell said his main task will be to launch an attack on urban congestion but that doesn't mean traffic safety will be downgraded.

If his actions to date are any indication, it won't.

It was Bridwell who outlined at a news conference the policies behind the 20 auto safety standards unveiled by the Commerce Department last month. He is convinced the department drafted standards which are reasonable, appropriate and based on existing regulations.

He reportedly was disturbed later by some news stories which indicated the department has given in to the industry by modifying some of its original, more stringent standards.

Bridwell, now a dedicated public servant, was considered by colleagues one of the best transportation writers in the business before he joined the Commerce Department in 1962 as assistant to Dan Martin, then undersecretary of commerce for transportation.

Clarksburg PTA Views Films At Meeting

The Clarksburg PTA met Feb. 15 at the school in Clarksburg. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Fern Roedel, president.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Norma Jean Milligan. The secretary's report and the treasurer's report were given and approved.

The PTA voted to donate $5 to the Founder's Day Fund, and $75 toward getting a water cooler for the school.

The following were elected to serve on the nominating committee: Mrs. June Winebrenner, chairman, Howard Hodges and Mrs. Maxine Coffelt.

The scholarship report was given by Mrs. Eula Sullins. Mrs. Lankford, public health nurse, was present and gave a talk and showed films.

The March meeting will be held on March 14 at 7:30 at the school.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Promising an inquiry that is neither a whitewash nor a "partisan expose," Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., has set March 13 for the opening of hearings on the status of the antipoverty program.

Field hearings in various parts of the country in April and May will follow the four sessions to be held in Washington, the chairman of the Senate Labor subcommittee said Sunday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of elderly persons dependent on welfare is declining sharply as Social Security coverage is extended.

Wilbur J. Cohen, undersecretary of health, education and welfare, said today the number of elderly persons relying on old-age assistance will be under two million this fall, down almost one million from 1950, the peak year.

"This decline, despite a seven million increase in the number of older people in the population which occurred during the same period," Cohen said, "is largely due to the rapid expansion of coverage under Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance."

"Extremely good" is the verdict of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on pictures of the moon coming from Lunar Orbiter 3. NASA said Sunday one-fourth of the 422 photographs planned had been received.

Funds from the Soviet Union are still being channeled to the Communist party, U.S.A., and it remains a "tool and a pawn" of the Soviet Communist party, according to a report of a Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

The National Heart Institute is lining up hospitals with staff and equipment able to "cope with the most advanced scientific techniques of the day" as part of the new program to combat heart attacks. Four to six hospitals will be awarded contracts in June and a dozen more will join the program in the next three years.

Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, was slated to accept an American Legion award today on behalf of the ANPA for its contributions to freedom of the press.

"That's too damn bad." — reply by former Sen. Barry Goldwater when asked what might be the consequences of a Soviet ship getting hit if the United States were to begin bombing Haiphong harbor as Goldwater recommends.

Capsules World News

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany and Jordan have agreed to resume diplomatic relations immediately, the Foreign Ministry said today.

Jordan and eight other Arab countries broke diplomatic ties with West Germany after Bonn recognized Israel in May, 1965, but maintained cultural and economic links.

The Arab League and West Germany have been considering a collective resumption of diplomatic relations but a diplomatic source in Beirut, Lebanon, said it was uncertain that other Arab states would follow Jordan's action.

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — At least 35 airplanes were destroyed in a fire Sunday that demolished a hangar owned by the Edmonton Flying Club at the Industrial Airport. Damage estimates ranged up to $1.5 million.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — European Communist parties will confer on European security at Karlovy Vary — Karlsbad —Czechoslovakia, April 24-27, the official Polish press agency has announced.

Representatives of 19 parties from Eastern and Western Europe met here for the past five days to prepare for the conference, believed a step toward the world Communist Congress sought by the Soviet Union to condemn Communist China.

LONDON (AP) — British European Airways told its 1,300 hostesses and stewards today to quit draining the dregs left by passengers.

"Like every other reputable airline, we do not permit leftover wine or food to be served a second time," said a spokesman for the state-owned airline.

"Before leaving the plane at the end of the day's duty, some of the flight staff occasionally pour themselves champagne from unfinished bottles. Now we have told them to make sure to pour it away."

Exhibition Opened

FLORENCE (AP) — Recovering from the November flood, Florence has opened Italy's largest art exhibition since World War II. It is devoted to modern art, displaying 1,500 works done by Italian artists between 1915 and 1935. The show is at the 15th Century Strozzi Palace.

Capital of ancient Inca culture was located in the Peruvian city of Cuzco.

Black Bag Mystery In School Room

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — A mysterious student has been attending a class at Oregon State University for the past two months enveloped in a big black bag. Only his bare feet show.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11 A.M., the Black Bag sits on a small table near the back of the classroom. The class is Speech 113 — basic persuasion.

The Black Bag seldom speaks or moves. But a newsman who attended the class says his presience becomes overwhelming.

Charles Goetzinger, professor of the class, knows the identity of the person inside. None of the 20 students in the class do.

Goetzinger said the students' attitude changed from hostility toward the Black Bag to curiosity and finally to friendship.

"We must find a rationale for everything. Life is pretty well structured from birth to death. We always have a frame of reference for events," Goetzinger said.

"Then in walks a black bag with a human inside it. Nowhere in our frame of reference has there been such a thing. So we resent. But we're stuck, so we find reasons for it all. And once we find reasons, then we defend our reasoning. So now, we defend the Black Bag."

Early in the term, students are required to give three-minute talks. The Black Bag, when his turn came, stood in front of the class for four minutes without speaking.

But in his second talk, he mumbled a little and answered a few questions about himself. Most of his answers, however, were, "I'm not at liberty to say."

The term ends March 13. Will the Black Bag disclose his identity?

He says he doesn't know.

"I might just walk out in my black bag, go somewhere and hide it and just be a human being again. I don't know."

He arrives and leaves in a car driven by a friend and apparently lives on or near the campus. He says there is no physical reason for wearing the bag, and he does not wear it to his other classes.

"No, I'm not malformed. No, I'm not a Negro, although discrimination enters into it. I am sure the Negro must be stared at and resented just like I am in the bag," he says.

Goetzinger, explaining the Black Bag's presence, says, "The student came to me before the term started and said he wanted to come to class in a black bag. I'm enough of a nut to try anything once, so I went for it."

People In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT (AP) — John Coates of Oakville, Conn., and Mattie Darling of Detroit are going to get married — as the result of a letter-writing romance which grew from a correspondence club introduction.

John proposed by mail, three times. Then he boarded a bus to Detroit.

The couple told a newsman Sunday: "We're in love."

John and Mattie both are 78 years old. Mattie's second husband died three years ago. John's wife of 50 years passed away in 1963.

ROME (AP) — Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida says she may make her debut in a musical on Broadway next year.

"It is not final yet," the 39-year-old actress told newsmen Sunday. "I'm considering the proposals with a great deal of interest. It attracts and frightens me at the same time."

LONDON (AP) — British artist Henry Moore, one of the world's leading sculptors, has offered between 20 and 30 of his major works worth about $2.8 million to Britain.

He said Saturday night he hoped his gift would go to London's Tate Gallery, of which he was a trustee for 14 years. The Tate is planning an exhibition of Moore's work next year to mark his 70th birthday.

LONDON (AP)—Actress Mia Farrow, 21, the wife of Frank Sinatra, denies reports that she is expecting a baby.

"It's just not true," she said Sunday. "I love children and I'm longing for a baby, but we've only been married six months."

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Barbara Stanwyck was honored Sunday night as "a theatrical person who has served the cause of humanity."

Miss Stanwyck received the May Mann Award of the Junior Auxiliary of the Los Angeles Jewish Home for the Aged.

The award was presented by Miss Mann, a Hollywood columnist, at a charity ball.

Walking With Stick

MADRID (AP) — Noticeably aging, ex-President Juan D. Peron of Argentina has been seen lately walking in madrid leaning on a stick. Associates of Peron, 72, said his health remains good for his age. Peron was overthrown and fled Argentina in 1955 and has been living in Madrid for seven years.

Lower Church Officials Are Speaking Up Louder

EDITOR'S NOTE — The house of faith is resounding with the tumult of change, self-criticism, debate and efforts at renewal. Among other things, the trend is shaking some old authoritarian habits. But many welcome the new, questioning spirit of "an open church." This is the second of five articles.

"Meaningless, unjust and basically wrong." So said a prominent Catholic priest about a statement by American Catholic bishops. A Methodist leader said of an action by his church: "Dispiriting. Uninformed."

These were not attacks by embittered dissidents, but the reactions of loyal, knowledgeable church stalwarts, who — for the sake of what they considered right—were simply saying what they think.

And that is the mark of a widening mood in the churches today.

It's "the new freedom," says a Catholic lay scholar, Dr. Daniel Callahan, of New York. It has its risks and discomforts, he adds but it is essential to the health of contemporary Catholicism, and it "is here to stay."

"Greater spontaneity," the Rev. Joseph Hughes, a Carlton, Minn., priest, calls it. "The era of thorough clerical domination and of time-table spirituality is ended ... for the foreseeable future we will have the 'open' church."

Among Protestants, although more accustomed to the clash of democratic ecclesiastical processes, there also are signs of added muscle-flexing in the ranks.

It's what a Presbyterian analyst, the Rev. Stephen Rose, of Chicago, calls a "constructive impatience" to move outward from circumscribing churchly bounds into wider, more diversified ministries.

"The first sign of this renewal is unrest, frustration, rebellion," he says. "One finds it throughout the Christian community."

It has brought on sharper, livelier working of opinion in the churches, both among ordained and lay members. It has unleashed conflicts between the changers and preservers, between old ways and new, between leaders and led.

An "authority crisis," some call it, a struggle between "freedom and order."

A Catholic specialist on religious personnel, the Rev. Boniface L. Wittenbrink, of Washington, D.C., termed it a crisis in communications between upper and lower echelons.

With it have come cross-currents of internal criticisms, petitions, appeals, official reprimands, walkouts and expulsions from church institutions, protests and the rise of rump lay groups and clergy-rights associations.

"We are not robots," declared the Rev. Barnabas Ahern, noted Catholic Bible scholar, at the recent formation of the Association of Chicago Priests, set up to implement their views with the bishop. "Our power is ..., as men." Pittsburgh priests have formed a similar association. The pattern has been followed elsewhere.

In a more militant vein, drives also were on to organize clergy labor unions, both of Protestants and Catholics — the latter led by the Rev. William DuBay in defiance of the Cardinal Archbishop of Los Angeles.

Once-passive laymen also were acting up. When some of them on a fund drive in St. Louis, demanded an accounting of church building finances, the archbishop, Joseph Cardinal Ritter, seemed unsurprised. It was the "emerging" layman.

The commotion has been particularly noticeable in Catholicism, which the Second Vatican Council shifted from tight central control toward dispersed, shared decision-making. The pent-up vox populi has been swelling since.

Church policies should be "made openly and with the full participation of all" says Catholic philosopher Dr. Eugene Fontinell, chairman of a newly formed Institute for Freedom in the Church. It includes laymen, nuns and priests.

The institute, and various recent moves to support freer expression and fuller personal prerogatives in the church, sought to uphold standards for the process itself — without taking sides on differences swirling in it.

The differences cropped up in various, volatile ways — arousing pleas in some quarters to go slow and tone down the arguing aloud.

At its last annual meeting, the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus, Catholic fraternal organization, issued a worried objection:

"Some members of the church, apparently endowed with a special gift for fault-finding and possessed of every ready media of expression, have publicly questioned the leadership qualities and authority of the bishops and portrayed them as objects of ridicule."

Whatever the caliber of some of the back talk, it came both from left and right.

It came from conservatives, such as the Rev. Gommar De Pauw's traditionalist movement which charges a "Protestantizing deformation" in Catholicism, and from liberals, such as a Protestant Episcopal group — led by a bishop — which recently picketed their church's New York headquarters, accusing the church of racism.

Both when the National Council of Churches assembly of Protestant and Orthodox representatives met in December in Miami and when Catholic bishops met in Washington, there were occasional demonstrators outside, pushing one cause or another.

Assessing the mixed complexion of the clamor in Catholicism, Msgr. William L. Doty writes in the Jesuit weekly, America, that it involves "both extremes and the middle, with every shade of opinion in between."

He suggested setting up grievance machinery in church institutions and dioceses, and said church authorities should help by developing "an atmosphere in which legitimate differences of opinion are not treated as though they were professions of heresy."

However received, the candor increased, upsetting old censorship systems, breaking out in independent church publications, such as the enterprising National Catholic Reporter, the conservative journal, Triumph.

"But the bright side of this movement is that the minister and priest conceived of as the hired professional Christian is clearly on theway out." The consequences, he adds, depend on how firmly the lay upsurge is "grounded in the Gospel."

In any case, "it is coming, willy-nilly."

The "hour of the laity," Pope Paul once put it. In January, he named 32 laymen to Vatican administrative agencies. Across this country, in rapid sweep, Catholic laymen took places on diocesan school boards — to advise or run them.

"The clerically dominated schools of the past are an anachronism," says Msgr. O'Neill C. D'Amour, of Marquette, Mich. Several dioceses planned assemblies including laymen. Some parishes held "beef sessions" to hear member critques. Many set up lay administrative or advisory boards.

Catholic universities — of Notre Dame, Detroit, Portland, St. Louis and Chicago's Loyola and Cleveland's John Carroll - acted to take on more lay oversight.

A group of Catholic theologians, sociologists and historians, meeting last fall in Pittsburgh, recommended that Catholicism return to the tradition of letting the people have a part in electing bishops. Some Catholic scholars foresaw ordination of women, already an issue in Episcopal and Lutheran churches.

The tide is against arbitrarily "managed Christianity," says Jesuit scripture scholar, the Rev. John L. McKenzie. But he also says new "channels of communication" are needed between authority in the whole church and its officers.

Many Catholics are "afraid of freedom," he says, but the attitude is changing. "To some of us older and more timorous churchmen, it will look as if the whole structure is tottering, but that is because our perspective is from the past."

One upset South Acton, Mass., layman complained that it seems impossible for bishops to teach anything anymore without being "torn to ribbons by an authority-be-damned assortment of intellectual egoists."

Says the Protestant Episcopal presiding bishop, John E. Hines: "We need reformers in the church, but not insurrectionists. We need pioneers in the church, but not anarchists."

Perhaps even more than laymen, clergymen were asserting themselves. In a survey of Catholic priests by the Rev. Joseph Fichter, Jesuit sociologist, more than half criticized lack of free communications between them and their bishops. Some bishops deplored the study, but others considered it valuable.

The recent departure of Britain's renowed Catholic scholar, Charles Davis, from the priesthood, protesting church rigidities, was only one of many lees noted cases, including at least a half dozen Americans who have publicly renounced the priesthood to marry.

In contrast to the past, however, the decisions came without recriminations on either side. Moreover, unlike the situation a year ago, when a furore burst over a score of silenced or exiled priests, such cases have declined, indicating an easing of the reins, an adjustment to the new latitude.

A Cuban patriot living in a New York rooming house designed Cuba's flag.

Cuba's flag first flew from a New York building on May 11, 1850.

CHICAGO — Modern sculptures, pretty girls, and shiny new automobiles are all part of the scene at the Chicago Auto Show here. Show at the International Amphitheatre features more than 450 individual cars and trucks, import models and experimental vehicles. Model shown at Chrysler display is Marilyn Kemp, of Detroit, Michigan. (UPI)

Avoiders Of Draft Get Help

TORONTO (AP) — Scott, as he wants to be known, was a 23-year-old film editor in the United States. Last fall, a week after he received his draft notice, he decided to evade military service by coming to Canada.

Now he is among the growing number of American draft-dodgers whose presence in Canada has sparked exchanges in Parliament. Canada has no draft.

Scott, unlike some draft-evaders in Canada, is not a pacifist.

"If Communist China attacked United States shores, I'd feel compelled to go back," he says.

But he adds that until his country can offer what he considers an adequate reason for the Vietnam war, he wants no part of it.

No one knows how many American draft-dodgers are in Canada. They are reluctant to draw attention to themselves.

Those interviewed talk only with the understanding they will not be fully identified.

Rich Paterak, 23, who directs from Toronto a program of assistance to draft-dodgers run by the Student Union for Peace Action, says he has heard estimates ranging from 50 to 2,000 but cannot vouch for their accuracy.

Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has cited in the House of Commons U.S. reports that between 1,500 and 3,000 Americans are in Canada to avoid the draft.

There are known to be draft-dodgers in Vancouver, Toronto's Bohemian Yorkville Village area harbors a number. David Depoe, a volunteer with a Canadian organization which runs a project in Yorkville, says there are usually up to a dozen draft-dodgers in the area.

On arrival draft-evaders can find a helping hand from the Student Union for Peace Action. Some individual members of the Society of Friends—Quakers—and the pacifist fellowship of reconciliation also help although the Quakers and the fellowship do not run aid programs.

The student union, an organization with interests in social as well as peace-related fields, helps the Americans find jobs and places to stay.

The Americans say they encounter little hostility in Canada. Scott, who feels "a bit lonely, a bit out of place" after three months in Canada, thinks he can feel at home as he builds friendships.

A clampdown on draft-dodgers entering Canada, for the present at least, seems unlikely. Manpower Minister Jean Marchand said in answer to a Commons question recently that the government plans no amendments to immigration laws to bar entry of U.S. citizens avoiding the draft.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said in reply to another question that he knows of no official corespondence from the American government on the subject.

U.S. authorities, in fact, seem little concerned. Lt.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the U.S. Selective Service System, reflected this in a London, Ont., interview last year.

"I've got over 31 million men registered," he said. "I'm not going to get excited about a few hundred."
